FOR NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

ADJT. GEN. D. H. HASTINGS,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention

Republican Primaries.

The Republican primaries for Bellefonte Borough and Spring township will be held on next Saturday at the time and place designated below. It is very essential to the success of the Republican ticket on next Tuesday that there be a full representation of the party at the primaries on next Saturday. Everything now indicates victory, and victory it certainly will be if every man does his duty. So see to it that you are at the primaries, but especially make sure to be at the polls on next Tuesday and vote the full Republican ticket. Following are the several places of meeting for the Republican primaries:

Spring township,—in Commissioners office, court house, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

North Ward—Borough of Bellefonte in the Arbitration Room—court house—on Saturday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

West Ward—In vacant store room in Bush House recently occupied by Frank Cunningham—on Saturday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

South Ward—In McClure's saddler shop on Bishop street—Saturday evening, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

EDITORIAL BRIEFS

SOME people are endeavoring to boom Speaker Reed for the presidency. But it is a long and weary road to 1892.

FROM the present outlook it is to be inferred that the World's Fair of 1892 will be formally opened about May, 11992.

AND still there are some Democarts who affect to believe that Speaker Reed doesn't know anything about parliamentary law!

THE reduction of the public debt in the month of January exceeded $11,000,000. And the country still has money in bank.

ONE way to discover whether the paper is saying anything about you is to sponge the reading of it; but a better way is to subscribe for it like your neighbors.

THE POPULAR TIE in Centre county is hemp, woven of three strands strength, and knotted back of the left ear. This freak of fashion appears now for the first time in sixty-six years.

A CLEVER, if unscrupulous, express messenger, whose bond is but $2,000 has managed to get along safely with $35,000. Another argument on behalf of the speedy satisfaction of that extradition treaty.

IT is rather strnage that Mr. Cleveland never writes any letters on tariff reform or other political questions and that no interviews with him appear in the Democratic papers. Mr. Cleveland's modesty or reticence, or whatever it is, borders on the extreme.

THE next move of the enemies of temperance is to take the license granting power out of the courts and vest it in a state commission appointed by the governor. And yet the advocates of this scheme are fresh from singing the praises of the present "high" license law!

STANLEY'S book on Africa will be published by Charles Scribner's Sons, in New York, in two large volumes profusely illustrated. Stanley is supposed to be engaged on it now. In Stanley's party were a number of good writers, all of whom promised not to print anything of the story of the exploration, and are scrupulously observing the compact.

THE Democrats who cackeled over the new Congressional rules as a "surrender" on the part of the majority, cackled all too soon. There won't be any surrender in the new rules. Their design is to facilitate legislative action, not to obstruct it. The fundamental principle on which they are based is the American principle of majority rule. If this principle is undemocratic, so much the worse for democracy.

ALL FOR HASTINGS.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch, in its Saturday issue, published the following special from a staff correspondent:

BELLEFONTE, Pa., February 7—At 10 o'clock to-morrow morning Adjutant General Hastings, with his wife and little daughter, start for Johnstown to attend the reception to which the people there invited them. This time the General will not be dressed in top-boots, flannel shirt and slouch hat, nor will Mrs. Hastings hold the ribbons of a team as she did when she drove across the mountains to join her husband in his work of relief in the stricken city; yet the family will make the trip in a very quiet unostentatious manner.

To-night General Hastings' library and smoking rooms were filled with gentlemen who had dropped in to wish him a pleasant experience in the hands of his enemies, as such a paradox may be presumed since Delamater pocketed the Johnstown delegate to the Gubernatorial convention, but the big jolly soldier told them he had no enemies at Johnstown, and that politics had nothing to do with the trip. That assertion may be taken as sincere, because all the receptions in the world could not take Delamater's delegates away from him.

A LITTLE TOO LATE.

Had the reception only been held before the Cambria County Convention then the delegates could still have gone to Delamater, but the pill for Hastings would have been sugar-coated, He had to swallow it, bitter as it was, and now comes the sugar-coating two weeks after the pill has been digested. Poor Johnstown! Her flood demoralized everything—even her system of medicine giving has been reversed. But Hastings understands Johnstown.

Colonel Spangler, General Coburn, Sheriff Cooke, Postmaster Feidler, County Chairman Brown, J. M: Dale, Esq., and other attorneys, were present at General Hastings' informal gathering this evening. It was not a political party at all. It was only the first evening for a long while that the General had been at home, and his friends took advantage of that fact. The county Republican convention, when it meets here, will instruct its delegates to the State Convention for General Hastings as Governor, Of course, this being the General's home, nothing else could be expected, yet Delamater's managers were ready for any adventure after their Cambria county sport, Some people thought they would not stop short after that of invading General Hastings' own town. In fact, the capture of Center county by Colonel Andrews for his young friend Delamater, would have caused less surprise than Hastings' apparent loss of Cambria with his great record there.

SOLID FOR HASTINGS.

But there is no chance for Delamater to force a breach in Center or surrounding counties. It was tried and proved a failure some time ago. Clearfield county is a part of this Congressional district, and in Clearfield Delamater made one of his earliest attempts to dig intrenchments. It is said much money was spent by his managers there to carry the delegation, but when the friends of Mr. Hastings heard of the operations a few of them went over from Bellefonte, and in one day all of the opposition's money and power was useless,so strong were Hastings' friends in that section of the Congressional district.

"Of course had Delamater succeeded there the effect would have been bad for Hastings, and it was the same in Cambria," said Lawence Brown, Esq., Chairman of the Center County Republican Committe, to me this afternoon. "The great mass of the people were the General's friends, but Delamater, by sharp pretice, got the delegates. Had Hastings done the smallest bit of work thee we would have secured the delegats, but the office of Governor is exalted and dignified, and General Hastings des not believe that it should be secure through methods both petty and qestionable. Hence his quiet, gentlemanly campaign in Cambria and Clearfield is a good illustration of his fitnes for the candidacy. Though in the formr county his rival has the delegates, he masses are for Hastings. It is no usually the man who is really popular with the people who makes the longest opponent against the Democratic candidate.

NO OPPOSITIN THERE.

"There will be no opposition to Hastings in our county convention. Clearfield has already instructed for him. I think there will be no trouble in Huntingdon county, and, although Montooth, of Pittsburg, has quite a number of warm friends in Blair county, yet I think they will only go to the extent of merely complimenting him and then turn in heart and hand for Hastings. Here at home everybody loves Hastings. Why, look at the Democratic papers ever week. With one exception they have all boomed him for the candidacy, printing his picture and saying all sorts of pretty things about him. The Centre Democrat of Bellefonte, is staunch in his favor, and the Centre Hall Reporter,one of the deepest dyed, seems to take to the Hastings boom."

This conversatton took place in the law office of Governor James A. Beaver, where I had accidentally met Mr. Brown, in company with J. M. Dale, Esq., one of the present Governor's law partners. Lying on Mr. Dale's desk was a recent copy of this Centre Hall Reporter. I noticed this paragraph in its editorial columns: "Notice to Quay bosses: You may be able to lick General Hastings, but you won't be able to 'lect Delamater."

BEAVER'S POSITION.

I was curious to know the attitude of Governor Beaver in this campaign. He has been very useful to Senator Quay in the past and here is one of his own townsmen training for his position, and that candidate not Quay's choice. Of course, the matter is of little moment, for he wields practically no political lever. I am told that Beaver regards himself as in a very delicate position. Three members of his Cabinet are candidates for Governor, Adjutant-General Hastings, Secretary Stone and Lieutenant Governor Davis. He must show no favoritesm in his own executive household, and he proposes to stand aloof and see the fun.

Before reaching town I had heard a rumor of Republican disaffection in Centre, and among the first persons I met was Clement Dale, an attorney, who declared himself a Republican, but not for Dan Hastings. He averred that there were others like him, but remarking that he was not an offensive partisan, he could not promise that the opposition would be carried into the convention. I found no other opponents to Hastings in Republican ranks and consequently there is no disaffection. Just the reverse is true of the Democrats in this section of the Congressional district Clearfield county is the home of William A. Wallace, and one would suppose for the same reason that Hastings is strong among Clearfield Republicans. Wallace should be popular with Centre county Democrats.

PATTISON THE CHOICE.

But Bob Pattison, of Philadelphia, is preferred to Wallace. Of late years William A. Wallace's connection with railroad corporations is said to have lost him much of his popularity with the poor rank and file in the neighborhood in which he lives. He is wealthy and a railroad magnate. His railroad is an important feeder to the Reading system, but some people I have talked to say that fact has not secured them any more genereous terms and treatment than they get at the hands of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Others believe he would make a weak Gubernatorial candidate, for the reason that the powerful Pennsylvania Railroad influence would be brought to bear to defeat him quicker than any other candidate, because of his connection with a rival road and his attitude on the question of freight discrimination.

This class of Democrats don't mean to say that they do not want a candidate who is not opposed to railroad monopolies, but they believe that they must have one with as little as possible aggravation about him, so as not to excite the ire of a powerful enemy-Pattison, they think, would be a more powerful factor. Had the Constitutional amendment been adopted last summer, Chauncey F. Black, with his famous personal liberty platform,would have been the nominee, but whisky still flows and Chauncey is a dead issue for a time.

THE attorney general of the United States has settled a long-vexed question by deciding that the territory known as "No Man's Land" is included in the eastern district of Texas, and that criminal offenses and violations of the internal revenue laws committed there are recognizable in that district. And so the contention that there was a tract of land in this republic where every man was a law unto himself is no longer tenable.

THE RESPONSE OF THE COUNTRY.

The battle in the House of Representatives for the right of the majority to rule has practically been fought to a finish. The rest is simply following up the victory—simply securing the fruits it places within reach. The Republican majority have solidly stood by Speaker Reed, and this has assured his triumph.

The question has passed from the House to the country. Where do the Republican masses stand? Do they approve and sustain the attitude and action of the Speaker? Do they uphold and justify the support given to him by the majority? If there are any men who can know and measure the feeling of the Republican masses, they are the Republican Governors of the Republican states. The Governors are in the right position to feel the public pulse. They are out of the turmoil and immediate excitement of the scene at Washington. They get a good perspective. They are in direct contact with the people, and there are no better judges of public sentiment.

The Philadelphia Press has asked the Republican Governors how the Republican masses stand on this question, and the answers are printed in another column. They come from the whole span of the continent—from Massachusetts and Connecticut in the East to Nebraska and Dakota in the West. They come from so many and such widely-separated states that if there were any variation of feeling they would reflect it. And they have one clear, ringing, emphatic tone—that the Republican masses unitedly, cordially and enthusiastically sustain the Speaker and the Repuolican majority. There is no doubt and no reservation. The same answer is given by the Republican newspapers of the country, and this concurring testimony is conclusive.

The fight for the right of majority rule and against factious filibustering has united and consolidated Republicans everywhere. It has solidified the majority in the House and electrified the majority in the country. It was a battle for the right and the power to execute the declared public will serve to enact great public measures, and the value of the victory is incalculable.

Lopping Off Legal Verbiage.

The court records of every county in the United States are cumbered by a mass of legal verbiage that is of no practical value and might be lopped off at a great saving of time, space and labor. The subject of adopting a shorter form of deed came up for discussion recently at Washington, it being proposed to change the law regulating the office of Recording of Deeds for the District. Every one at all familiar with the phraseology in common use in the making of deeds and like documents knows that from one-half to three-fourths of the words might be dispensed with, and that too, without detracting in the least from the validity of the instruments. Indeed, the intent and meaning of the contracting parties could be made much clearer to the great mass of persons if the redundant words and phrases which now encumber legal papers were wholly eliminated.

What is now being urged in Washington is the adoption of some short statutory form of conveyance, which, while it will detract nothing from the binding force of obligations mutually entered into, will greatly facilitate the transaction of both public and private business, reduce the fees of conveyancers and recorders, and save the cost incurred by the needless multiplication of deed, mortgage and other books of record.

The fees for recording have grown to immense proportions in Washington, and the most sensible way to reduce them would be to lessen the time and labor required to do the work of the office. The proposed change would be a reform which all classes would heartily welcome, except, perhaps, the scriveners, conveyancers and others personally interested. The cost of keeping the public records comes out of the pockets of the property-owners, and it should be reduced to a minimum. No more should be collected than suffices for the purpose, and one of the best ways of economizing would be to lop off all legal verbiage.

THE new rules for the government of the National House of Representatives were reported to the House on Thursday, recommitted and ordered printed. It is probable they will be passed by the House by the close of the week, against the Democratic opposition, of course. The new rules will effectually check the filibustering methods that have been so common the past few years and facilitate business: Congressmen are sent to Congress to transact the needed business of the country requiring attention and not to waste valuable time and $10,000 a day doing nothing. It is beginning to dawn on the minds of the Democratic minority that in the Congress, at least, the majority must rule.

Are Newspapers Responsible.

A man said the other day: "The newspapers are responsible for the great amount of crime that exists and is every day increasing throughout the country. If they would not print reports of criminal acts or offences crime would decrease."

Oh, what fallacy! If it was not for the press two thirds of the criminals would now go "scott free." Half the crime that is daily committed would never be detected, and the complete ruination of society would only be a question of time—and that a very short time. Why it is the ever watchful reporter who first detects that crime has been done. The enterprising newspaper representative is everywhere, and while a man might be killed under the very nose of a Chicago policeman and he not know it, a man would not dare talk loud to a lady on the street if there was a reporter two blocks away but what he would know the full particulars.

With this ever watchful, ever-penetrating and ceaseless vigil it is that the press is the greatest factor of civilization in hounding down and bringing to law the criminal. They are always first in the field and the last to go out. If a man commits a crime in New York one night the next morning, in flaming letters, the whole country over the description of that man and the crime he committed is heralded with a telling force,. The public are enlightened as to the kind of a man it was that committed the deed, and, unless the earth opens, and swallows him up, it is worth his life to get away.

And yet, with all this, some men say that news should be suppressed. It is only a grand display of the incalculable value of the press as a preventive of crime and a detector of the criminal.

An Affront to Mr. and Mrs. Blaine.

An extremely unpleasant scene took place at the funeral of Mrs. Coppinger, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine, in St. Matthew's Church Washington. The galleries were packed with people. Pews were reserved for the mourners, As Col. Coppinger, who is a Catholic, entered the pew he made the usual genuflection and sign of the cross, as all Catholics do. Secretary Blaine and Mrs. Blaine followed him. They are Presbyterians. They did not bend the knee or cross themselves. The omission was immediately followed by an outburst of hisses from the right-hand gallery. So loud was the demonstration that it was heard all over the church, and people looked in the direction the ugly sound came from. Mr. and Mrs. Blaine were overcome by grief and apparently did not notice the hissing.

ACCORDING to the last report of the Adjutant General of the militia of the United States, the militia force of the country already equipped and drilled amounts to about 112,000 officers and men, which number, taken together with the regular army of about 28,000 officers and men, would make a total military force that could be used at once against an enemy of about 140,000 men. We are not wholly unprepared against foreign trouble. When to this respectable showing is added the fact that we have more than 7,000,000 able-bodied citizens to draw from and more wealth than any other Nation possesses, there is good reason for believing that we stand little danger of any other Nation's picking a quarrel with us.

TERRIBLE AS WAS THE BLOW DEALT to Secretary Tracy, he has borne up under it most manfully. It is announced that he will not resign his position, as had been feared, but that he will resume his work in the Navy Department as speedily as he is able to do so. The country, while sympathizing most profoundly with the Secretary in his great sorrow, will be glad if he finds it possible to continue at his post. The nation has need of him.

GENERAL NOTES.

Michigan has 78 furniture factories, half of which are in Grand Rapids.

A flock of wild swans was seen in a Pickaway county, (O.) swamp the other day.

A six year old ox that weighed 2,255 pounds was sold in Parkersburg the other day.

Luther H Leber, of York, photographed the bottomof an oil well, 1,700 feet below the surface, at Warren.

Hereafter Australia is to make the ammunition for her army, which hitherto has all come from England.

A mausoleum to cost $100,000 is to be erected in Laurel Hill Cemetery, San Francisco, for the Flood family.

The biggest wild turkey ever seen in the Chickasaw Nation was shot last Thursday. It weighed 40 pounds.

A S Clough, of Prescott, Ariz., drives a team of mules thatare 33 and 35 years old. They are still good workers.

A number of medical students at Harvard are about to take a course of lessons at the Boston Cooking School.

A gopher hunt was organized at Lockford, San Joaquin county, Cal., last Sunday, and the boys cleaned up 2,000 scalps.

An enterprising fisherman of Gloucester, Mass., intends making a trip to Norway in search of cod, which are said to abound there.

Two years ago it cost the Boston and Main Railroad $100,000 to keep its tracks clear. This winter the snow plow has not made a single trip.

A statistician calculates that the total tonnage of the world, steam and sail, is in round numbers, 20,000,000 tons, of which 50 per cent is British.

A Beaver Falls woman was knocked down by the explosion of a bottle of ketchup. It burst in her hands as she was bringing it up from the cellar.

An English paper says that a syndicate is being formed in that country for the purchase from this Government of the forest lands of Alaska.

A middle-aged German woman in Brooklyn went to the office of a magistrate and asked for the arrest of a young girl, who, she said, had bewitched her.

Hydraulic power at a pressure of 750 pounds to the square inch is now conveyed about beneath the streets of London as steam is conveyed in this country.

In the Barow collection, soon to be sold, there is a plan for a greenhouse at Mount Vernon, drawn by Washington, with instructions in his handwriting.

A play at one of the English theaters has just had to be modified because the actors had a superstition against the appearance of a peacock or its feathers on the stage.

The last run of shad will soon cease to be a figure of speech in Massachusetts, the fish commissioners find a decrease of 90 per cent in the catch since 1879.

A Nebraska farmer says that when his hogs lose their appetites he takes them out riding in a lumber wagon and jolts them over the roughest places he can find.

A business man of Painesville, O., is afflicted with paralysis of a very singular kind. His legs are powerless from dark to daylight, when he recovers the use of them.

A Frankford man is training his hens to lay their eggs in the kitchen, where he has placed a cradle for their accomodation. This saves the labor of hunting the eggs.

Those people who have wondered where A. Blizzard originally came from are informed that he has been editor of the Geneva, Ala., Record, and has just retired.

It is said that almost all of the postal clerks and carriers who become thieves begin by stealing letters addressed to lottery agents, which they know are almost sure to contain money.

A student of Dickinson Seminary was so nervous since the preaching of his first sermon that he got into the wrong church and entered the pulpit before discovering his mistake.

A sensation has been created among New York gastronomers over the alleged discovery that they have been eating black squirrel hash, done in old sherry, at diamond back terrapin prices.

Mrs. William Johns, living in Pleasant township, Franklin county, O., is the mother of two sets of triplets, all boys. One set is 9 years of age and the other nearly 6 years old. They are bright healthy children.

Sometimes teaching pays. A San Francisco pedagogue, who was removed in 1887 without cause, has just been reinstated by order of the Supreme Court and awarded $5,000 damages. A rather profitable vacation.

Poultry fanciers will be interested to learn that a breeding pen of eight Langshan fowls arrived at New York on Tuesday afternoon from London on the steamship Lydian Monarch. The eggs of such fowls are scarce at $1 apiece.

Law in Texas is often practiced under difficulties. In a court, the other day, the defendant in a murder trial was shot by his victim's friends. The judge had to fly before a shower of bullets and two other people were hit by the bullets.

Our Story Teller.

GIP.

BY ANNABEL DWIGHT.

Gip stands at the door looking with anxious eyes out upon the bay.

The September twilight is closing, the wind grows fresher, and the great foam-crested waves are tumbling noisily upon the beach.

'Gip' is short for Gypsy.

If the girl ever had any other name she does not know it.

Years ago, when little more than a baby, she was washed ashore from a wreck, and because of her brown face and great dark eyes the men who picked her up named her Gypsy.

Her rescuers are wreckers and smugglers—a villainous set, but kind enough to the girl in a rough way when she does not oppose them,

She has grown up among them, poor little waif, picking up such scanty scraps of learning as she might, and hating the rough wild life with all her soul, yet k

A brig lies at anchor down the bay.

Gip knows it for the "Silvia."

She has seen the second officer a few times—he has been there at the house on one pretext and another, until the men have conceived a fierce distrust of him, and have threatened to put him out of the way if he comes again.

Gip is scarcely fifteen years old, but all the woman in her has leaped into life before the smile in Halford Creede's eyes.

She has a wild desire to be with him always—to get away from these bold, rough outlaws, whose manners as she approaches womanhood grow more and more offensive.

Gip calls the big dog Growler and walks down to the beach.

She strolls over the white sand talking to her four-footed companion, when suddenly she hears the sound of a familiar voice calling her name.

The voice comes from a deep cave in the overhanging cliff, where the outlaws hoard their illgotten gains.

She hastens to the entrance only to find it completely blocked by a huge bowlder.

"Mr. Creede, are you there?" she calls anxiously, beating at the rocks with her slender brown hands.

"Yes, Gip. Those devils bound me hand and foot and shut me up here this morning. I have worked their dirty gag from my mouth, but I can not free my limbs."

"Wait a little!" she calls breathlessly as she bounds away.

In a few minutes she is back again, driving a pair of great Devon oxen.

At this moment a little boat appears scudding close to the shore.

When they see her and realize what she is about, they wave their arms and shout blasphemous threats at her.

She knows it is as much as her life is worth to free this man, but she straightens the clumsy chains attached to the yoke, and fastens two great grappling hooks into crevices of the rock which blocks the cave.

"Get up Star! Get up Bright!"

Touched by the steel-pointed goad the oxen work their great heads under the yoke and pull stoutly.

Bravo! the bowlder rolls away! The mouth of the cave is open.

Gip throws down the goad, and runs to cut the ropes which bind Creede.

'Come!' he says, catching her hand in his.

Unhesitatingly she springs away with him.

Their pursuers are wearied and heavy from a too frequent discussion of certain black bottles.

They gain the water's edge, and a cry of exultation escapes Creede, for there close in shore is one of the 'Silvia's' boats manned by half a dozen brave lads on the lookout for their officer.

'You can swim?' he demands, with a swift smile at Gip.

For answer she laughs lightly and springs forward beside him into the green waves.

Soon they reach the boat and are helped aboard, while the baffled villains ashore send impotent yells after them.

In thirty minutes the 'Silvia' is speeding out of the bay, her white sails swelling before the stiff breeze; and Gip is happy, for the old life is left behind, and and she is sailing away to another country with Halford Creede.

A lucky fate awaits her

She has a wealthy old grandmother in Italy awaiting her coming.

The dead mother was a daughter of Italy.

The dead father an American.

But after Halford Creede leaves her in her new and splendid home and goes away, she misses something out of her life.

The years go by, and she gains learning and accomplishments, and develops nto a gracious and lovely woman.

She has seen Halford Creede once or twice, but a great gulf seems to yawn between them.

He is cold and distant.

She does not dream that her riches have set her above him; she only fears that she fails in some womanly attraction or virtue, and is forever striving to perfect herself.

The old grandmother is long since dead.

She has a nice old lady for companion and chaperon, and all her little world is at her feet, while she sighs for one other.

At last she has her desire, though she scarce knows how it happens.

Creede is master of a fine merchantman now, and he has some friends among the aristocracy, who procure for him an invitation to a ball at which Elinor Dare is present.

She is so radiant, so graceful, so altogether shy and appealing to Creede, that he loses his head and pours forth such a passionate story of love and despair that Elinor is half frightened.

"Pardon me," he says, unsteadily. I was mad, I think."

He turns to leave her, but the dawning blushes in her cheeks, and the shy happy smile in her eyes speak eloquently.

Only a blockhead could misinterpret that look.

The music is sounding deliciously from the great saloon, but they are alone among the magnificent plants of the conservatory.

Halford draws her within his arms.

"Do you indeed love me, sweetheart?"

"I have always loved you," she whispers, yielding her lips to his.

The Ladies' Home Journal.

Filled with the best things for woman's benefit and pleasure, the February Ladies' Home Journal fulfills its reputation as the best modern magazine for the home. There is a practical ring about everything in the pages of this monthly that at once inspires confidence. Every article shows as much careful thought as if it were the only feature in the magazine. Nothing is printed haphazard, the most insignificent atom of advice seems to have been carefully weighed. It is this which makes the Journal so valuable to woman. Her every want is understood, her every need is filled, and there is not a girl or woman but can find something of genuine interest in each number. Only the most experienced pens are employed, such for example as Mrs. A D T Whitney, Dr Talmage, Josiah Allen's Wife, Kate Tannatt Woods, Maud Howe, Mary J Holmes,—these, and more than a score of other famous names are in the February issue. The most beautiful illustrations are used, combining the finest artistic effects with the most interesting literature, and making the magazine what is truthfully claimed for it: a perfect encyclopedia of woman's knowledge in each number,—and we may add, for only One Dollar a Year. Published at 433-435 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

BROAD GRINS.

"What are you doing now?" said a traveling man to an old friend.

"Making up the black-list."

"Towns where they impose a tax on saleeman?"

"No; I'm helping take a ceusus of the colored population."

Two tramps were discussing a recent hanging.

"Well, I can't say I want any of it in mine."

"Yes; the sensation can't be what a feller might call "evenly."

'Oh, 'tain't the pain as I'm afeerd on; it's the bloomin' exposure before the aujence."

Hooker Crook (despairingly)—Do you think Bessie intends to marry Jack?

Riton(unfeelingly)—I know she does. I saw her send for a copy of the divorce laws yesterday.

Jimmy—Mamma, I wish you'd lick me real good and hard.

Mother (surprised)—Whip you! Why Jimmy, you haven't done anything wrong, have you?

Jimmy—No; but me an' Bill Jones are goin' skatin', and you know you told me you'd lick me if I went, so I thought I'd enjoy it a good deal more if you'd do it beforehand.

"These are my household gods," he said to her as he entered his bachelor apartment.

"But you lack something," she remarked.

"What?"

"A household goddess."

"Do you see that young woman over there?" said a young man to Miss Sharpleigh.

"Yes."

"She's as pretty as a picture, isn't she?"

'I don't know that I can contradict you. Even comic valentines are known as pictures."

"Johnny, you have been a bad boy to-day."

"Yes'm."

"Are you sorry."

"Yes'm"

"Why are you sorry?"

"Cos I know that the chances are about seventeen to two that I'm going to get licked."

THERE is no doubt about the growth of the annexation spirit in Canada. It has recently broken out in Montreal, where a number of important persons have taken up the question. French Canadians are coming forth to advocate separation from England. Generally no better way is seen than joining hands with the United States.

A Spook Surprise Party.

They sat on the limb of a crab-apple tree,
A Bogy, a Spook, and a little Banshee.
The wind blew north and the wind blew free,—
Oh, 'twas a merry meeting.
The Bogy had eyes as big as a plate,
The Spook had feet number twenty-eight,
While the Banshee had covered her horrible pate
With the ghastliest kind of sheeting.

Said the Bogy, at last, with a dismal wail,
"To frighten folks now I always fail;
They laugh instead of becoming pale
When they at midnight meet me.
Our business is falling in disrepute,
It's neither productive of fame nor loot;
Back to the shades I think I'll scoot,—
There the ghosts will be glad to greet me,

"Not far from here," croaked the grim Banshee,
"Lives a lonely man of low degree;
Pale and sad and sickly he,
And 'twould be funny, very,
To frighten him into a fearful fit,
Just to liven us up a bit,
Before we take our final flit
Over the spectral ferry.

"We'll descend on him in a baleful bunch,
Grinning as if we'd like him for lunch,
I'll howl, while the Bogy his teeth can scrunch;
The Spook can sadly be singing"
"Agreed," cried the ghastly ghostly pair.
They sped away through the midnight air,
Routed the recluse out of his lair,
By their howls, and growls and ringing.

Courteously he invited them in,
In vain did the Spook grimace and grin,
And the Bogy raise a horrible din:
Their host smiled more than any.
He didn't turn pale nor his blood congeal,
But considerately asked, "Well, how do you feel?"
And spread them out a bountiful meal,
While his welcome words were many.

"Do you not stand," said the Bogy, "aghast
At the terrible trio who join your repast?
We, whose business it is to cast
Mortals in misery dumb!"

The Engine Driver.

Away, away, at night or day,
Through solitude or throng
With lightning gait and thund'ring weight
I dash the rail along.

Though flame doth feed my iron steed,
And shoot his nostrils fire,
Yet give I rein or him restrain,
As suiteth my desire.

I eye with pride his burnished side,
His joints and thews of steel;
My spirits leap as throbbing deep
His mighty pulse I feel.

'Gainst rock and hill I hear the shrill
Re-echo of his scream;
On air of morn I watch upborn
His breath behind me stream.

Around each curve his slightest swerve
I measure to a hair;
For danger near I sharply peer
At every thoroughfare.

A never loud, but sober-browed
And thoughtful man am I;
Few words I take to query make,
And fewer to reply.

For off my post, still uppermost
The thought doth with me bide,
That everywhere the lives I bear
Of all who with me ride.

Who more, save he that on the sea
With waves and tempest strives,
Needs in him sand, than he whose hand
The locomotive drives?

If I Sometimes Smile.

Oh! think not if I sometimes smile
That I am always gay—
A moment's light will linger still
O'er a departed day,
And faded flowers we sometimes see
Which still have their perfume.
But life—the life is wanting here.
For they have ceased to bloom.

I live, but 'tis a lifeless life,
For what is life to me?
The brightest of my life has flown
Since I am robbed of thee.
But sometimes when thou dost appear
Such lovelinees I view,
That comes a ray of bygone life
That only beams for you.

So little birds with joyful notes
Will sing the livelong day,
But when the night and darkness come
There songs will fade away,
And silent they remain until
The morn unfolds its arms,
Unfettering the light of day,
And calleth back their charms.

They say that thou art happy—well,
'Tis well that it is so.
Alas! how often some one's joy
Is reaped at other's woe!
Yet still to see thee is a bliss,
It brings a joy to me—
It thrills me with the old-time life
That now abides with thee.

"Stay Thou With Me.

BY P. B.

Stay thou with me; soon will the night be come,
E'en now the sun has set behind the hill;
The hind has led his weary cattle home,
And the loud busy day at last is still.

Come, Lord, and bending from Thy glorious throne
Greet me this evening with Thine own bequest—
Thy promised peace; in Thee, in Thee alone,
Can my heart find a sweet and holy rest.

Ah, Lord, Thou comest from my father-land,
My homesick longings are not hid from Thee;
Bring me some tidings from that sacred strand,
Give me the eyes of faith my home to see!

E'en while I wait, listening to hear Thy voice,
I feel my heart enkindled by Thy love;
A ray of glory makes my soul rejoice—
A gracious token from my home above.

February.

Oh! curlish month! whose wild vagaries,
Fret and perplex each passing day,
Till bleak December's harshness varies
With the soft wooing of the May.

Thy morns may come with radiant promise—
Thy skies be bright with golden glow;
But ere the day be gone half from us,
The world is drowned in drifts of snow.

We love thee not, although so human,
In thy coquettish, Wayward moods,—
Capricious as the veriest woman,
In thy perverse vicissitudes.

And yet we hail thy rude oncoming,
Because thou closest Winter's state—
Glad that thy days, (in honest summing,)
Can only number twenty-eight!

MARGARET J. PRESTON.

In Ladies' Home Journal,

From Wealth to Poverty.

In a frame house in the suburbs of Braddock, John Richardson, once worth $1,000,000, lies poverty stricken at the point of death. It is but a repetition of the old, old story of a fortune amassed by hard and persevering labor swept away by an unforseen calamity.

In 1853, when the region where the town now stands was but a barren swamp, Richardson settled there, and with a small sum of money erected a saw mill on the bank of the Monongehela. The venture proved a success. Material was plenty and cheap, lumber brought high prices at Pittsburg, which was just commencing to build up rapidly, and it soon became necessary to make extensive additions to the mill. Fortune smiled upon John Richardson, and he rapidly became a wealthy man.

The first crisis came when, in the spring of 1869, the water swelled over the bank of the river and the entire plant was swept away. With a comfortable fortune still remaining. Mr. Richardson started his business again on a still more extensive scale, only to meet with the same result a year later, leaving him almost penniless.

To keep himself from starving the once wealthy mill owner was compelled to go to work as a coal miner. While leaving the mine one day his right arm was caught between two pit wagons and mangled so as to unfit him for work. As a last resort he opened a little grocery store on 13th street, but unscrupulous debtors and the reverse side of fortune made the venture a failure, and for several weeks past the little store has been closed.

Worn out and discouraged by a vain fight against miserable poverty, Richardson is gradually sinking under the terrible clutches of asthma.

Montana Female Miners.

Mrs. P. A. McAdow, of Maiden, who heretofore has enjoyed the distinction of being the only woman in Montana engaged personally in mining, will now have to share that rather unique position with Mrs. Dottie Lakel, of Castle, Meagher county. Mrs. Lakel is a pioneer in the Castle mountain mining districts, and is the owner of a part interest in the Anna, Little Dot, Cumberland No. 2 and Hidden Treasure mines, the latter property being well developed. She is a short, heavy-set woman, rugged in appearance, with a few silvery threads in her black hair. She has seen the ups and downs of miners' life, and dates her experience back to the early days of California. She stopped in Helena on her way back to New York, where she goes in and endeavor to dispose of some of her holdings.

In conversation with the Republic correspondent she showed thorough acquaintance with mines and their different formations, as well as the way in which to develope them. She does her own assaying, and is Superintendent of the properties in which she is interested. She goes down into a mine, and gives all the directions as to the way in which she desires the work done, telling her men to drift or cross-cut for the lead, just as any male manager would do.

She takes East with her a number of samples of one from the Hidden Treasure, and talked enthusiastically of the future of Castle district. She has prepared a map of Castle district, showing all the locations within four miles of the camp, that would be a credit to any surveyor. Her partners in the Hidden Treasure have allowed her, she says, to pay all the expenses of developing the mine, and she is now going to try and sell her interest in that claim, and use the money to work some of her other claims.

COFFEE AS A FLAVORING EXTRACT.

The various ways in which coffee may be used as a flavoring are not generally known. It exceeds in delicacy any preparation of manufactured extracts; is especially convenient, and not injurious when taken into the system.

It will be found desirable to use the following recipes together, either for dessert or for tea.

Coffee custard: The yolks of five eggs well beaten and poured through a wire strainer; three tablespoons of sugar dissolved in a cup of clear, strong coffee; one pint of milk; a pinch of salt. Mix together, and pour into small glasses or cups, which should be placed in a steamer over a kettle of cold water. The water should then be heated and kept at a boiling point until the custards are set, when they should be at once removed, and when partly cooled placed upon ice.

The cake may be made of the whites of five eggs, one and a half cups of sugar, one-half cup of milk, one-half cup of butter, two cups flour, and one teaspoonful of baking powder.

Cream together the sugar and butter, add the milk and flour, and lastly the whites well beaten. Add tiny pieces of citron and bake in two small loaves.

The addition of coffee to ice-cream and corn-starch pudding gives a delightful flavor.

A cup of finely ground coffee to four gallons of mince-meat will greatly improve its quality, giving it richer color and a strange spicy flavor.

Ax Manufacturers Meet.

Representatives of all the leading manufacturers of edge tools in the United States met in Pittsburgh yesterday. No business was transacted except the appropriation of a committee to formulate plans for the organization of the edge tool manufacturers into a combination or trust. This committee will meet next Tuesday and will report at a general meeting to be held in New York the latter part of the month.

C. W. Mackey, of Franklin, who organized the White Lead Trust, is at the head of the manufacturers and it is expected that the organization will be upon the same plan as the Lead Trust.

The Rainy Day.

The day is cold, and dark, and dreary;
It rains, and the wind is never weary;
The vine still clings to the moldering wall,
But at every gust the dead leaves fall,
And the day is dark and dreary.

My life is cold, and dark, and dreary;
It rains, and the wind is never weary;
My thoughts still cling to the moldering past,
But the hopes of youth fall thick in the blast,
And the days are dark and dreary.

Be still, sad heart! and cease repining;
Behind the clouds is the sun still shining;
Thy fate is the common fate of all,
Into each life some rain must fall,
Some days must be dark and dreary.

What is a Model Wife.

A medel wife is the woman in whom the heart of her husband doth safely trust.

She is a woman who looks after his household, and makes her hospitality a delight to him, and not a burden.

Who has learned that a soft answer will turn away wrath.

Who keeps her sweetest smiles and most loving words for her husband.

Who is his confidant in sorrow or in joy, and who does not feel the necessity of explaining her private affairs to the neighborhood.

Who respects the rights of husband and children, and in return has due regard paid her.

Who knows that the strongest argument is her womanliness and so she cultivates it.

Who is sympathetic in joy, or in grief, and who finds work for her hands to do.

Who makes friends and keeps them.

Who is not made bitter by trouble, but who strengthens and sweetens under it.

Who tries to conceal the faults of her husband rather that blazon them forth to an uninterested public.

The woman whose life-book has love written on every page.

Who makes a home for a man—a home in a house and in a heart. A home that he is sure of, a home that is full of love presided over by one whose price is above rubies.

She is a model wife.—Ladies Home Journal.

SHE LOVES THE STAGE.

Miss Letitia Aldrich is the niece of Senator Stewart, the Nevada silver king, and the granddaughter of H. S. Hood, of Mississippi. She is also a full fledged actress, having made her debut at a Washington theatre only a few weeks ago. She was born in California, where she lived almost all her life. Her desire to become an actress was born of what she read in the newspapers and elsewhere; but the small taste which she has already had of the real life behind the footlights seems not to have disenchanted her, as it does most of the newspaper made stage lovers.

Miss Aldrich is a bright, vivacious girl, of handsome presence and magnificent physique. She has soft, dark brown hair and eyes, rosy cheeks and a very pleasing expression. Her manners are as unconventional as those of a school girl, and she looks forward to her professional life with bright expectations, apparently having no fear of the bitter disappointment as that are likely to come to her as brilliant success.

The night after her debut she said to a reporter: "I am perfectly devoted to the stage; otherwise I never should have thought of taking the step which I have just taken."

The play in which Miss Aldrich made her first professional appearance was "Maid Marian," a three act comedy by Miss Seawell, the scene of which is laid in New York city. It was the first appearance of the piece as well as of Mrs. Aldrich, and friends of each are wondering anxiously as to whether they will succeed or not. The young star is backed by unlimited money and high social prestige, and it is not improbable that she will do well.

A LADY'S PERFECT COMPANION.

PAINLESS CHILDBIRTH, a new book by Dr. John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in Childberth, but results rom causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without uffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness' swelled limbs, and all other evils attending pregnancy. It is reliable and highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this ot: it will save you great pain, and possibly your life. The Diningroom.

Let everything be scrupulously neat and tidy in the dining room. Sparkling glass and silver ware are highly ornamental, and speak of taste of refinement.

After removing everything from the table the cloth should be brushed with the crumb brush and in folding the cloth see that you fold in the same creases that were ironed in.

Panels representing flowers and fruit are appropriate wall decorations.

Let there be no cobwebs visible unless, outlined on the carvers cloth, which is a great saving to table line n.

The mirror may be placed in this room, but never in the parlor.

TABLE ETIQUET FOR CHILDREN.

Here are a few good rules that can be safely followed:

Give the child a seat that shall be strictly its own.

Teach it to take its seat quietly.

To use its napkin properly.

To wait patiently to be served.

To answer promptly.

To say "Thank you"

If asked to leave the table for a forgotten article or for any purpose to do so at once.

Never to interrupt and never to contradict.

Never to make remarks about the food such as "I saw that turkey killed, and how he did bleed," as I once heard a little boy remark at a Thanksgiving dinner.

Teach the child to keep his plate in order.

Not to handle the bread or to drop food on the cloth and floor.

To say "Excuse me, please," to the mother when at home, and to the lady or hostess when visiting, if leaving the table before the rest of the party.

To fold his napkin and put back his chair or push it close to the table before leaving.

After leaving the table not to return.

I know children who observe every one of these rules, and are in no way priggish, but are simply well-behaved, delightful companions, and they owe it all to their mother's careful training from babyhood.—Good Honsekeeper.

Marking the Field of Gettysburg.

Hon. H H Binghaw, of Philadelphia, has recently introduced in the House of Representatives a bill providing for the marking of the line of battle of the Army of Northern Virginia on the field of Gettysburg. It is a well-known fact that, up to the present time, nothing has ever been done to define this line, and, although the Federal line is distinctly marked by hundreds of monuments and tablets, there is nothing on the field to indicate the location of the opposing troops. This bill provides for a completion of the work, which is only now half done, and it appeals to every American who feels a pride in preserving for future generations the greatest battlefield of modern times. The work is to be accomplished at the expense of the Government, under the supervision of the Secretary of War.

The bill contemplates the marking of every position occupied by the Southern forces, so, that when the present surviving actors in the great tragedy have passed away, the children of soldiers yet unborn may look upon the field and see an epitome of the great battle.

To the State of Pennsylvania it means a perpetual source of revenue, as it will attract visitors from every quarter of the globe, and render the field for all time a spot of incalculable interest to the military student.

This measure deserves the hearty support of the press and people of the State of Pennsylvania, which furnished so many of the brave men whose deeds have shed an imperishable lustre on the name of Gettysburg.

Poor Humanity.

The common lot is one of sorrow say—at least—the pessimists, they who look at the worst side. Certainly what would otherwise be a bright existence, is often shadowed by some ailment that overhangs it like a pall, obscuring perpetually the radiance that else would light the path. Such an ailment, and a very common one, is nervousness, or in other words, weakness of the nervous system, a condition only irremediable where inefficient or improper means are taken to relieve it. The concurrent experience of nervous people who have persistently used Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is, that it conquers entirely supersensitiveness of the nerves, as well as diseases—so called—which are invited and sustained by their chronic weakness. As the nerves gain stamina from the great tonic the trouble disappears. Use the Bitters for malaria, rheumatism, billiousness and kidney troubles.

A "Dairy Maid's" Festival.

The ladies of the Y. W. C. T. U. will hold a "Dairy Maid's" festival in their rooms in Crider's Exchange, on Tuesday, February 18th, in the evening.

Just what kind of a festival a Dairy Maids' festival is we cannot imagine, bu our opinion of it is something very nice We presume there will be a whole lot of lovely maids, dressed in quaint but handsome costumes, with snow white milking caps crowning a head of lovely hair and all sitting on three-legged stools, dispensing pails of milk (not pale milk) to the thirsty customers present. Of course to complete the genuineness of the affair cows (not calves) in miniature will have to be there somewhere.

Four Striking Features of the Pennsylvania Limited.

Of all the passenger trains of the world none presents for the convenience and accommodation of its passengers so many original and novel features as the Pennsylvania Limited. This train offers four great features unique in the history of passenger travel. As it speeds across the continent there are flashed over the wires, to meet or overtake it, the fluctuations of the New York and Philadelphia stock markets, and there are also posted on its bulletins full reports of the doings in the foreign and domestic financial marts. Thus the wayfaring man reads as he runs.

In order that the traveler may dispatch any commission which these reports may suggest, or dispose of any current correspondence, a stenographer and typewriter is provided for the free use of the train's patrons. He will take the dictation of letters or telegrams, and see that they are forwarded from the train. Thus may business proceed though the counting-room be many miles away.

So much for the men. Ladies could never before travel in such comfort. For their convenience a waiting-maid is assigned to each train, whose duty it is to serve as ladies' maid in all that the term implies. Ladies without escort, ladies with children, and invalids are the particular objects of their care. So that one's own maid may be left at home, and yet the fair traveler may receive assistance of one well trained in the duties of her vocation. The fourth important feature, also of interest to the ladies, is the observation car. This half of it is a large open sitting-room furnished with easy chairs. Broad plate windows admit a wide expanse of light, and the broad platform at the rear makes a pleasant open-air observatory in fair weather. This car is open to all passengers and forms a magnificent sitting-room for ladies.

With these four prominent characteristics, in addition to the superior sleeping apartments, bath-rooms for both sexes, a dining car unexcelled in service and cuisine, smoking and reading apartments, and a barber saloon, the Pennsylvania Limited sustains its claim of being the most complete passenger train of the world.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The Afflicted Cabinet Officians.

It is repeated in a number of places that Mr. BLAINE will not retire from the Cabinet, notwithstanding he is a great mental and physical sufferer. It is said that he realizes that his own welfare depends on sticking to his post and its work. In this way, as many another has done, he hopes to occupy his mind, and, as far as such a thing can be accomplished, tide over his great bereavement. The President resists the suggestion of Mr. TRACY'S retiring from the Cabinet for similar reasons, and also on account of the warmth of the President's personal regard for the Secretary. It is not improbable that these reasons will prevail and Mr. TRACY remain, although it will be some time before he will be able to resume actively his duties as the head of the Navy Department. It is current in Washington that President HARRISON is almost superstitious on the question of either Mr. BLAINE or Mr. TRACY retiring; that he holds that the dropping out of a member of the Cabinet would presage the failure of his administration.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

What is a cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in a prespiration, etc. The important point is, that a cold in the head is an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, which, when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition—for catarrh is essentially a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proved its superiority, and sufferers should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh.

Mrs. Harrison's Daily Life.

The brother of President Harrison's private secretary, Mr. A J Halford, has written for the March number of the Philadelphia Ladies' Home Journal, an article on "Mrs. Harrison's Daily Life In The White House," prepared with the consent and assistance of Mrs. Harrison. A new portrait of the lady of the White House, especially taken for this article, and a view of the up-stairs family rooms of the Executive Mansion, are among the illustrations which will accompany Mr. Halford's first magazine effort.

TO ADVERTISERS!

How to Get the Most Service for the Money!

The Advertiser who would be willing to pay twenty-five cents for every family who could be "educated" up to the value of his goods would thus devote $3,000,000 to educate the 12,000,000 families which make up the 60,000,000 of the United States. This sum would do the business thoroughly in a year, for it is sufficient to pay for the insertion of a full column in every issue of every publication, and for resetting the matter, making it new in every issue of each separate publication. We will receive and execute the contract.

$5,000 One of the most successful Advertisers we ever had always ordered his advertisements in this way, "Get the best service you can for me for $5,000," leaving every detail to us. We were thus enabled to say to a Publisher, if you put this in at a large reduction from your rate it will be no criterion for further transactions. It was a surprise to find ourselves so often able to contract for the insertion of that particular advertisement at half rates, in papers which would not permit us to OFFER their columns at a penny's deviation from a printed schedule. The advertising rates of one New York paper are double those of another which has twice the circulation of the first. Similar discrepancies are not uncommon. The advertisement intrusted to us to be placed in accordance with our judgment often does double service for half the money. A dollar for twenty-five cents.

$1,000 If we are given authority to insert advertisements to a limited amount, in such mediums as ofier inducements which seem to us specially favorable, we shall not abuse the confidence reposed in us, and shall render statements of whatever is done (if anything) from day to day. When TRUSTED with the placing of an advertisement, we are put upon honor, and are bound in honor to give the best service possible for the money to be used.

$500 Leading Newspapers, especially the leading Agricultural Nswspapers, frequently issue large special editions (of twenty, fifty, a hundred, or even five hundred thousand copies,) and eslicit advertisement orders from us on terms which would often be accepted by our patrons if there was time to invite attention to the matter; but the question must generally be decided before there would be time to write and receive a reply, and often the caso cannot be fully stated within the limits of a letter.

$250 Prepare a small advertisement and send with check for $250, or any other sum. The practice of asking the Agent to name his papers in advance compels him to name such as are well known, otherwise there is reason to suspect that his judgment is biased;—and the best papers do not like to have their rates quoted below their schedule.

$100 The advertiser who sends his advertisements asking for the best service possible for one hundred dollars, will often get from five to fifty per cent more service for his money, than he would had he required us to tell him in advance exactly what service we would promise; for when an estimate has been given its plan and specifications must, in a general way at least, control the advertising to be done: It ties the Agent's hands and prevents his giving his patrons TO-DAY a better service than he could have promised yesterday, because yesterday the opportunity had not presented itself: to-morrow it may have passed! Some publications are used more economically on contracts for a single issue; in others insertion for a month may be had as cheaply as for a single week but in furnishing an estimate in advance, if the Agent attempts to go into details, his correspondence becomes voluminous and the advertiser confused.

$50. If you are in the habit of occasionally inserting a small advertisement in a few papers, investing a few dollars and carefully noting the result; we desire you to make trial of our Advertising Bureau, sending us the advertisement and the money, leaving the selection of the papers to us, and judging of the service rendered by results rather than by names, circulation claims or prices. To make up careful estimates calls for much work. It don't pay to make them indiscriminately for every applicant. If such estimates as are asked for were always given the Advertiser who wished to expend $50 would frequently find himself in posession of a scheme which it would cost $500 or possibly $5,000 to carry out.

$10. We devote all necessary care to placing small orders for Advertising:—even the smallest! Time is saved by sending check with the order. Often the Advertiser is not possessed of sufficient information on the subject to enable him to judge of the merits of an estimate for advertising, and he decides by the footings of the figures whether he will or will not do the work. Yet the estimate binds the Agent and makes it improper for him to make any variation in its specifications, however much his judgment may point to material changes which ought to be made. This is specially liable to be the case when the order comes a considerable time after the estimate was made.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10, 1890.

The President was under engagement to go to Pittsburg next Thursday to open a free public library, but the awful catastrophe by which Secretary Tracy's wife and daughter lost their lives has upset everything and it is now extremely doubtful whether he will go. Official society may be considered as in mourning, and there will be no more entertainments this season.

The code of Rules has been reported to the House, the majority and minority reports presented, and to-day they were called up in the House and the debate upon them opened. Nothing else will be taken up until they have been disposed of, and it is likely to take the greater portion of this week, as the democrats propose making a large number of set speeches against them. The majority report from the committee on Rules should be read by everybody, and only lack of space prevents its reproduction in full. To mutilate it by quotation is not to be thought of.

Senator Morrill, chairman of the Senate committee on Public buildings and grounds, is bestiring himself to secure the legislation to have several very necessary public buildings erected here which will save the government a tidy sum of money now annually paid out in rents. Among the buildings contemplated are an addition to or a duplication of the White House; ditto Post office and Interior department buildings, and a new Government printing office, which is urgently needed in place of the present overcrowded and unhealthy to say nothing of dangerous, building. Its cracked and out of plumb walls are a constant source of fear to the 2000 or more employes who daily risk their lives in it, and it is a shame that such a building should be allowed to stand.

Secretary Tracy went to his office at the Navy department this morning for the first time since the terrible fire. He has aged 20 years in a week. Yesterday was the first time he had seen his surviving daughter and granddaughter since the fire. The President and Mrs. Harrison accompanied Secretary Tracy from the White House to the residence of Judge Bancroft Davis, where the meeting took place.

The Committee investigating the Ohio ballot box forgeries expect to finish the hearing this week. It had a very distinguished array of witnesses last week, including Gov. Campbell, Murat Halstead and Representatives Butterworth and McKinley, and the testimony, while containing little, if anything, that was entirely new, was at times quite interesting.

A clause in the new code of Rules for the House makes pension bills privileged to come up at any time. It is said that a very determined effort is to be made to have that clause stricken out, but as it was put in by a vote of the republican caucus it is extremely likely to stay there.

Members of the house have long worried over the fact that the Senators were each provided with a clerk to help them in their correspondence. The result is a bill which has been favorably reported to the House providing a clerk for each Representative.

In the Senate this week the Blair education bill and the Oklahoma Territory bill will probably occupy considerable time. The Oklahoma bill is being presented by Secretary Noble, who says the present condition of affairs in that country is exceedingly dangerous.

The President's proclamation opening the Sioux reservation to settlement is all ready to be issued and may be given out any hour. It will certainly be issued this week.

There is a rumor here that Senator Gorman is to be chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee. If true this means a red hot fight for the possession of the House, and it behooves the republicans to be on the alert.

Senator Allison is not worrying over the news from Iowa. He says things will work around all right after awhile.

The national shipping league, which was in convention here last week, passed a resolution endorsing the Farquhar bill for subsidizing American ships, on the ground that it would put our merchant marine on an equal footing with that of other nations.

Messages of condolence to Secretaries Blaine and Tracy are still pouring in, not only from all sections of this country, but from all over the world.

With the new Rules adopted the House will have no difficulty in going ahead with public business.

Death of Mrs. Mary A. Weaver.

Tuesday morning at 8.15 o'clock the soul of Mrs, Mary A. Weaver took its departure from earth. Her illness dates back several years, and had its origin in an attack of Pluresy, afterwards developing into Asthma, of which latter disease she died.

Mrs. Weaver was a daughter of George and Isabella Rothrock, and the beloved wife of Mr. George B. Weaver, one of Bellefonte's well known citizens.

The deceased was born August 30th, 1823, making her age at time of her death 66 years, 5 months, and 11 days.

Besides her husband, six daughters and one son survive her, one daughter Maggie, having died a number of years ago. Two of her daughters, Miss Ada R. and Miss Jennie are unmarried, and were present during her last moments.

The other daughters are Mrs. George W Given, of Philadelphia, whose husband's remains were only last week brought to this place for interment; Mrs. Jas. C Smith, of Lock Haven, wife of the present Register and Recorder of Clinton county; Mrs. Bates, of Pine Glenn and Mrs. J Hud Crissman of Clearfield county; her only son being Mr. George J Weaver of this place.

Mrs, Weaver, during her earlier years, was known as a bright, vivacious, and an attractive woman, whose general characteristic won to her many warm friends. The last few years of her life were years of waiting and suffering, all of which was endured with christian patience.

Her life's record is made, for her earth's scenes are closed, but the best of all that is left is the "Rest that remaineth," into which she has entered.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at two o'clock from her late residence on South Spring street.

Alfred Andrews' Reputation.

The deviltry and treacherous character of the murderer Andrews has been confirmed by a letter received this morning from England, and if all is true that is said about him it is wonderful that there has been no record against him since he has been in this country. Probably he has been wanted for some crime but by some means, has up to this awful case, managed to escape the justice due to him.

The general expression of those who know him appears to be, "served him right," He received a letter from the kind woman who is his foster-mother, since he has been incarcerated at Bellefonte, in which she stated that she had been making arrangements to leave England and come to live with him in America. This possibly was the result of his inducements to live with him and thus compensate her for the evil he had done, but probably with the intention of fleecing her of the little money she may be possessed of. In the letter she mentioned that as soon as she was able to secure the money she had on loan to some friends she should prepare for coming to him.

The following is a part of the information in the writer's letter received from England this morning:

"Alfred Andrews has had rather an eventful career. When only eighteen years old he repaid the kindness of the elderly lady, Mrs. Prisk, who at great inconvenience to himself, adopted him, by forcing the locks of her wardrobe and decamping with nearly $100. Proceeding to London he soon found employment as a butcher's assistant, but for purloining some of his master's goods he was compelled to undergo a term of imprisonment at the Hammersmith Gaol, in the city of London. After his term of incarceration had expired, he next made "tracks" for Cornwall, and made his presence known at Ponsanooth by breaking into and robbing his grandmother. Some four years since, through the kindness of his friends he was enabled to proceed to America, where he has resided up to the present.—Philipsburg Journal.

"WHEN the final history of the great calamity is written there will come a time when, doing injustice to none, it will appear that, standing in the back ground guarding, directing, aiding, encouraging, working day and night gathering funds and organizing for your relief, a brave, generous man, who placed in the balance every dollar he owned—the savings of a lifetime—to retrieve the suffering people—James A. Beaver."—General Hastings in his informal speech at the reception at Johnstown last Saturday night. Oh, magnanimous man! But read farther. "I am very much surprised, indeed, at the position General Hastings has assumed in the governorship race. He promised me that he only wanted to get himself in shape for four years from now. Of course, I can say nothing for him."—James A. Beaver in an interview soon after General Hastings declared himself in the governorship race. Draw your own conclusions.

IF the Democrats think they can win a battle on the issue that the minority should rule the majority let them go ahead and try it. If they think they will strengthen themselves by insisting that Representatives when on the floor of Congress should be recorded as absent, that it is a legitimate proceeding in legislative bodies and businses may thus be stopped, let them try that. The country has been calling for a new issue, and this might supply the long felt want.

"Ruth" Ruminates on the Terrors of Crime.

MR, EDITOR :—It seems a thing incredible that the quiet byways of old Centre county should be furnishing so much material for the gallows, and yet it is but too true.

With this epidemic of crime upon us, it becomes the duty of every citizen to strengthen the arm of the law by the weight of his or her influence thrown in the right direction, aiming at the prevention of crime which is always preferable to its punishment.

It is to be hoped that no mistaken philanthrophy will lead the women of Centre county to visit the cells of the slayers of their sisters. No honest woman's eyes should ever look into their's, no woman's smile brighten their solitude. As we value the safety of our daughters and the sanctity of our firesides, let us not rob the law of its terrors by our ministrations. They have their bible and their spiritual advisers, what these and the silence of their cells will not accomplish for them we cannet hope to do.

These men are mistaking their shame for fame; this is largely due to the curiosity which impels men, who ought to know better, to treat them with a consideration they never received before their incarceration.

There is danger, two, that the bragadocia of these men may pass for pluck and bravery among our boys who are naturally interested in the sentimental. They do not think that, having drank to its dregs of the poison of sin, they are as incapable of a realization of their condition as a drunken man reeling on the brink of a precipice. Nothing short of the power of a miracle will rouse them this side of eternity.

Unionville Items.

The long looked for snow has come and will be a great boon to farmers and lumbermen who have hauling to do, as well as a relief to the general trade of the country.

Mrs. Campbell, who has been ill for some time with consumption, died on the 5th inst, at the residence of her son-in-law, George Sensor, near this place. Her remains were intered in the Unionville cemetery on the 7th. She was the widow of Mr. John Campbell, who died several years ago.

Mrs. Alice Greenleaf, who has been ill some months past with a lung trouble, died on the 7th instant, aged 40 years. Many sympathizing friends followed her remains to the tomb on the 10th. She was a daughter of the well known Dr. William Underwood, who formerly was a prominent citizen of this place, but who recently lived in Elizabeth City, N. C. His son Newton attended the funeral of Mrs. Greenleaf.

A wedding took place near town on Saturday evening, the 8th, at the residence of Mr. William Keatly. The contracting parties were Owen, son of Thos. Sensor, and Miss Mary, daughter of William Keatly. Rev. Elliot officiated.

The Friends will hold their quarterly meeting in this place on the 16th and 17th of this month.

It was thought a few days ago that young Dr. Thompson was about to locate here, but according to later intelligence he was only endeavoring to locate a young lady on Allegheny street.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abcess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decator, Ohio, says "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at W. C. Keplinger & Co's drug store.

A $6,000 Fire.

The Johnstown Democrat gives the following account of a fire in Kernville on Monday night: About 11 o'clock a young man going out Willow street noticed a great light in Stutzman & Wilson's warehouse, and at once gave the alarm, the flames appearing at the windows. At this time some man kicked a hole in one of the lower windows, causing a draught, and instantly the flames began to shoot through the roof. By good work the residences of Rev. Dr. Fink on the left and that of Jocob Gruber on the right were saved from total destruction. The building which fronts on Willow street and is entirely of wood, was filled with agricultural implements, buggies, wagons, sleighs, etc. The loss will aggregate $6,000. It is not yet known how much insurance there was on the building and in what companies it was placed.

"Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam be it ever so humble,' there's no specific for pain like Salvation Oil. Price 25 cents a bottle.

"The most troublesome companion a person can have while being away from home, is a cough, and I would advise everybody to procure Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup before starting." (Drummer.)

Improve Your Live Stock.

To those of our readers who are thinking of buying live stock we wish to refer them to the advertisement of Messrs. Powell brothers, "Shadeland," Springboro, Pa. They do not ask fancy prices for their stock and will sell at "live and let live" prices and at terms satisfactory to the purchaser as far as possible. The extensive business done by this firm puts them in no position to sell stock of like merit as low or lower than any other establishment in America? If you are thinking of buying and want a bargan, write them what you desire, and you can depend upon fair and square dealing at their hands.

Judge Linn's Serious Illness.

The case of Judge Samuel Linn, of Williamsport, is assuming a peculiar form which is puzzling the doctors. He appears in good health, but as for walking or using the limbs, he has little control over them. Judge Linn has now been confined to his room continuously for seven months,

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Demorest's Magazine.

Do you want your daughters to learn how to cook? Then start them in with the cooking class commenced in the March number of DEMOREST'S FAMILY MAGAZINE. The articles carry the "Cooking Class" right into your own kitchen, for the editor tells us that these lessons are identical with the instructor of one of the large Cooking-Classes in New York City.

Do you want to start your children in the Kindergarten system of instruction, and keep them amused at home for hours at a time? Here is another to refer to the March number of that wonderful Magazine; and when you once have it in your hands (if you are not already acquainted with it)' you will be surprised to find that you have made a great error in supposing that it was composed of Fashion sheets. There is not a better Family Magazine published. Its literary merit is of the highest order and the illustrations are superb. In the the March number there are nearly two hundred of them, among other interesting things, the beauties of a winter spent on the Mediterranean, all the different stages through which "A Bound Book" passes before it reaches the reader, and the horrors of "A Spanish Bull-Fight"; and the unillustrated articles are also a great value, notably one in the "Our Girls" department, on "The Art of Letter-Writing," and, further on, "Washday" gives many points that make Monday a less terrible day to anticipate. The story matter is up to its usual high standard, and the news of the day is given in a nut-shell in the "World's Progress." It would seem impossible to get up a Magazine that would be better suited for every member of the family, at the low price of 20 cents a copy, or $2.00 per year. Published by W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 15 East 14th St., New York.

Not a Symptom in Three Years.

"Several years ago I had an attack of piles and fistula from which I suffered great pain for upwards of a year. I tried a number of remedies but none of them did me the least good. I was becoming desperate on account of so much suffering, and at length went to the drug store of Dr. J C Franklin, in this city where I purchased a bottle of S. S. S. I took it according to directions and took nothing else. After taking six bottles I was entirely cured. That was three years ago, and I have not had any symptoms of piles or fistula since." Mr. Stanley's Personal Narrative.

The interesting fact is announced by Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons that they have acquired from Mr. Henry M. Stanley all the American rights for his personal narrative of the expedition for the relief of Emin Pasha. Prior to the appearance of the complete work, Scribner's Magazine will publish an article upon his last journey by Mr. Stanley. It will be illustrated and is certain to be as important a contribution as any that has ever appeared in an American Magazine.

Readers may have noticed that Mr. Herbert Ward, who was one of Stanley's officers, makes no mention of the expedition in the article recounting his experiences upon the Congo, which appears in Scribner's for February, the fact being that Mr. Stanley has reserved the sole right to describe this most remarkable of all his African undertakings.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned, having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease "Consumption," is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge) a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all throat and lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his Remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing and may prove a blessing, will please address, REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburg, Kings County, New York.

Literary Note.

Were grand old Dr. "Rugby" Arnold (so reverently eulogized by the author of "Tom Brown at Rugby,") alive, his mind, on scanning the English literary field, would doubtless revert to the time honored maxim "blood will tell." His son, Matthew, has left an exalted and enduring reputation, and in "Robert Elsmere" his grand daughter, Mrs. Humphry Ward, has shown an earnestness of literary purpose which has thrilled thoughtful men and women throughout Christendom. And now comes another grand daughter of the good old doctor, Miss Ethel M Arnold who appears in the New York Ledger of February 15 with a cultured letter on "The London Social World." In this letter Miss Arnold gives the readers of the Ledger valuable and picturesque information regarding the latest evolutions of the literary and artistic circles of the metropolis of the world, and chats pleasantly and with refined animation regarding the celebrities who adorn its social circles.

EXAMINE BEFORE YOU BUY.

WHEN in a grocer's store you stand
And cakes of IVORY SOAP demand,
Be careful not to be misled
And imitations take instead,
For dealers oft will praises sing
Of that which may more profit bring.
Let not your senses clouded be
Because a snowy cake you see,
For villainy is not confined
To darkest colors, bear in mind,
And oft the sham is not remote
From fairest face or whitest coat.
Examine well with careful eye
The cake until the name you spy,
And always thus be well assured
That IVORY SOAP you have procured;
And should a lingering doubt remain,
'Twill vanish like the darkest stain,
When in the tub on washing day
That cake of soap is brought in play.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

ALL THE DETAILS

THE STABBING AFFRAY AT MOSHANNON, ON THURSDAY EVE, WAS UNDOUBTEDLY A COLD BLOODED

Attempt to Kill Outright.

A "Daily News" Representative Visits the Place and Gets the Story in Detail, All the Facts as They Were Told by Those Who Know.

From accumulated evidence it seems a certainty that John Veighdorfer made the assault on John Forcey and that that assault was made with intent to kill in order to be revenged on the latter who about one year ago put Veighdorfer out of a house because of some trouble over a girl.

The spot where the latest tragedy in Centre county occurred is about one-half mile beyond or west of Moshannon on the road leading to Karthaus. The road at that point leads through a piece of woods and the growth of underbrush is heavy and thick. The two characters engaged in the fight had gone to Moshannon to attend a prayer meeting,but there was none that night and it was about half past 8 o'clock when they in a crowd of nine –three young girlsand six young men, the two Veighdorfer boys, two Fye boys, Allan Keller and John Forcey —started out the road on their journey homes. They had gone but one half mile when Veighdorfer picked a quarrel with Forcey. Words soon led to blows and the engagement became warm. Forcey had knocked Veighdorfer down twice when the latter drew his knife, a large bone-handled one with a dirk blade about four inches long and sharp as a razor. He stabbed Forcey twice in the back with it and then made a stroke at his throat which, if it had not been anticipated by Forcey, would almost have severed his head from his body, as it was however, it made a semi-circular cut on the shoulder clear into the bone, severing all the muscles of the neck so that the man's head fell to one side.

Forcey was game to the last, however, for after this terrible gash he followed his assailant up and knocked him down once more. Veighdorfer jumped up and made another plunge at him with his knife and this time struck him below the ribs on the left side, inflicting a gash three inches long and into the left lung. Forcey staggered and, exclaiming, 'I'm badly stabbed' sank to the earth. Veighdorfer then started home but was overtaken by Allan Keller and the knife taken from him after which he and his brother went home and went to bed.

Forcey was carried to the home of Harry Wagner and a doctor sent for. An examination revealed the fact that the left lung was cut about half off. Every time the wounded man drew a breath the wind could be felt issuing from the gash in his side. The doctor pronounced the wounds fatal, and a warrant for the arrest of Veighdorfer was sworn out before Justice of the Peace, J. C. Smith, of Snow Shoe, and Constable James Haynes sent to make the arrest. His brother, William Haynes, went with him. They found Veighdorfer in bed and at once served the warrant. No resistance was made. When they started for Snow Shoe Mrs. Veighdorfer told John he had better put his overcoat on.

"Oh, it isn't worth while," replied John; "I'll only go to Snow Shoe and give bail. I'll be back in time for breakfast" But he reckoned without knowing as he was brought in to Bellefonte and jailed, as all our readers know. Veighdorfer was not told how bad Forcey was cut and he does not yet know the critical condition he is in.

As to Forcey; when J. C. Meyer learned of the affair he requested Justice of the Peace, J. C. Smith, of Snow Shoe, to take a physician and go to the wounded man and take his sworn statement, so that in case of his death it would stand as his evidence against Veighdorfer. Mr. Smith took Dr. R. J. Young, of Snow Shoe, and drove out to Harry Wagner's. They took his statement which was quite lengthy, but which dare not be made public as long as the man is alive. It is understood, however, that the statement contains very damaging evidence against Veighdorfer.

After the statement had been taken Dr. Young made a thorough examination and found the nature of the injuries to be as above recorded. The doctor said that it would have killed any man of but ordinary constitution, on the spot, but the healthy condition of Forcey enabled him to survive the first shock. His chances for recovery, however, the doctor stated were but about one in one hundred. He is liable to drop off at anytime. The knife with which the deed was done is now in possession of 'Squire Smith, There is still blood on the blade. It is a dangerous looking weapon and has been kept exceptionally sharp for some purpose.

The reputation of Forcey has always been good. Inquiry of a dozen persons who knew him elicited only words of commendation for the unfortunate young man who was not yet 20 years of age.

As to Veighdorfer, his reputation is somewhat unsavory. He is generally accredited with being of a quarrelsome disposition, or in more general terms a "bully." It is said that it can be proven that he had sworn he would kill Forcey and as he was the attacking party it seems as if he intended to keep his oath. He is about 22 years old.

Both the young men are farmer's sons and live with their parents. Veighdorfer is a son of George Veighdorfer and lives at the German Setlement. Forcey is a son of Jefferson Forcey, who lives about a mile beyond Pine Glen.

Special Tours to the South via Pennsylvania Railroad.

A striking illustration of advance in a decade is the fast time and equipment of the special train used by the Pennsylvania Railroad in its serial personally-conducted tours to Jacksonville. The train is connected by the vestibule feature, which destroys all annoying motion, and is composed of drawing-room, sleeping, and smoking cars, and a dining car, on which meals are prepared by a chef, whose popularity extends not only to the epicure, but to all.

The accompanying Tourist Agent and Chaperon, an original idea with this company, have received such marked praise that a tour now would not be complete without them. When consideration is given the exceptionally low rate of $50 from New York and $48 from Philadelphia, including the above-described mode of travel, and meals en route in both directions, it is a wonder more business-worn men and women tired with exacting social duties, don't avail themselves of this opportunity for a rest.

Despite the mild Northern winter, the first and second tours were filled up, and the third, which left Tuesday, the 4th inst., carried its full quota,

The next tour is announced for February 18th. Details can be obtained from S. W. F. Draper, 849 Broadway, New York, or W. W. Lord, Jr., 205 Washington street, Boston; while itineraries can be procured from any of the Pennsylvania Railroad ticket-offices.

Life of Jefferson Davis.

Mrs. Davis is engaged in preparing a biography of her late husband and has sent the following letter to the press throughout the country:

BEAVOIR, Miss:, Feb. 1, 1890.

I have engaged to prepare a biography of my late husband, which will be published at an early date.

In order to make the book as complete as possible. I shall be greatly obliged if our friends, whose personal recollections of Mr. Davis would throw light on any event of his life or tend to illustrate his character, will record them and forward them to me. As I shall endeavor, as far as possible, to tell the story of Mr. Davie's career in his own words, I shall regard it as a real service to be furnished with copies of any letters from my husband relating to any public topic that his surviving friends may have preserved.

My address will continue to be

Marion Harland's Appeal to Women.

Marion Harland, the friend and helper of women everywhere, has taken up the work of restoring the ruined monument marking the burial place of Mary, the Mother of Washington.

One hundred years ago this venerable woman was interred in private grounds near Fredericksburg, Virginia In 1833, the corner-stone of an imposing memorial was laid by President Andrew Jackson. A patriotic citizen of New York assumed the pious task, single-handed, but meeting with financial disaster, was compelled to abandon it.

Marion Harland says truly—in her appeal to the mothers and daughters of America to erect a fitting monument to her who gave Our Country a Father—that "the sun shines upon no sadder ruin in the length and breadth of our land, than this unfinished structure."

The publishers of The Home-Maker, of which Marion Harland is the editor, offer, as their contribution to the good ca s , seventy five cents out of every annual subscription of two dollars to the Magazine sent in during the next six months. Every such subscription must be accompanied by the words, "For Mary Washington Monument."

—It commenced snowing Friday about noon and continued all day until late in the evening. Then sleet and rain fell and this morning there was a covering of "disagreeability," if you know what that is, over old mother earth. The prospects are now that it will get warmer and the snow soon disappear.

—Mary M Fetzer, wife of Andrew Fetzer, who preceded her to the spirit world about twelve years, died at her home in Boggs township, on the 31st of January, 1890. She was 81 years, 6 months and 3 days old. She left a bright evidence that she had gone to rest, and many friends mourn her death.

Will Use Our Own Gallows.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS DECIDE TO ERECT A GALLOWS FOR CENTRE COUNTY'S OWN USE. IT IS CERTAINLY NEEDED

Contrary to their former intention the commissioners have determined not to borrow the Lycoming county gallows, but to build one of their own. They reason that, from present prospects, it may be needed about four times in a year, or every 90 days, and it would be too great expense to be always borrowing an instrument of that kind. So to save trouble and expense they sent that master mechanic, Samuel Gault, to Williamsport to take a view of the machine there and then gave him an order to build one for Centre county. In this connection the Williamsport Republican states that Mr. Gault. of Bellefonte, was in Williamsport yesterday inspecting the Lycoming county gallows, for the purpose of seeing how it was constructed. The Centre County Commissioners had intended to use that gallows in the execution of Hopkins, but it seems that they have changed their minds, and are now going to build one of their own. In view of the recent murders in Centre county it would seem that a gallows would be a convenient article for the county to own, and if crime keeps up in that county the scaffold will be in use most of the time.

MATRIMONIAL FREAKS.

When "Aunt Katy" Currie, who has just died at Warwick, Orange county, N. Y., at the age of 107 years and 3 months, was 32 years of age, she married to Joseph Currie, with whom she lived until his death in 1872. "Aunt Katy" is entitled to the singular distinction of having gone to the altar a a bride after she had entered upon her ninety-second year. The bridegroom, James Nelson, was 68 years old, and the marriage took place two years after the death of her first husband. Before contracting this second marriage "Aunt Katy" tore the record of her age from the family Bible, and always declined afterward to tell her age. It is known positively, however, that she was born in 1782.

Mrs. Ann Duffy, 67 years old, was sent to the county house in Troy N. Y., three years ago. About the same time Peter Bateman was sent there. As time passed Mrs. Duffy and Bateman became fast friends. A few days ago Mrs Duffy's son sent her some cloth for a new dress, Keeper Dunham's wife had the garment made. Mrs. Duffy left the institution yesterday and said she was going to a store near by. Bateman disappeared about the same time These aged lovers met on the street and eloped from the poor house. They hastened to the minister's and were married. They had no money to pay the minister his fee, but that made no difference. Where they are spending their honeymoon no one knows.

A man and woman are traversing Delaware county, O,, getting married by every preacher they come across. The fake they work is to give the minister a bad twenty dollar bill and receive ten or fifteen dollars good money in return.

Perine C. Whitney and Miss Josephine Ward, the latter deaf and dumb, are to be married at West Haven,Conn., in a few days. The groom is 66 and the bride forty years younger.

An advertisement appeared in the London, Ont., Advertiser a short time ago from a man residing at Temby Bay, named Ibbotson, in which he spoke of his desire to secure a Christian woman as a wife. Among those who read the advertisement was a widow residing at Perth, mother of two children, who answered it. The gentlemen wrote a reply, in which he described his house and worldly goods, and explained that he desired some one to take charge of his household.

The widow, after some correspondence, purchased a ticket to go to her prospective husband. She did not find things quite as she expected! The household consisted of the father and nine children, the youngest of whom was 7 years of age. The children's mother had died insane, and the charming widow was loath to complete the transaction which she had begun so bravely. She was stopping at Hilton, and the widower went thither to interview her, but the lady would not be seen at all.

This would be a sad ending were it not that another chapter yet remains to be told. A young man at Temby Bay heard of the lady being there, and that she had two little children, 5 and 8 years old. He had a nice little talk with her on Sunday, proposed marriage with her on Monday, was accepted, and the wedding took place last Tuesday. At last accounts, Mr. Ibbotson was on his way to Bruce mines, to meet another lady who had taken preliminary steps toward matrimony, in response to the advertisement.

Not if "Mont" Knows It.

Mrs. Helen Dauvary-Ward has been seen upon Broadway occasionally of late looking very charming and winsome. It is now said that she intends to star next season in a new play to be written for her by Sydney Rosenfield. This will be good news. Miss Dauvray is a conscientious, indefatigable worker. She will be gladly welcomed.—New York World. She will not go on the stage, if "Mont" has any influence with her. Mark that down.

It Was Not Perjury.

Sheriff Cooke's failure to tell he knew about Andrews when he was on the witness stand was not perjury as the Centre Democrat intimates. Instead it was only a mistake or blunder owing to the fact that the counsel for the Commonwealth were not informed as to just how much the Sheriff did know and when he got so far Judge Orvis, supposing that was all he knew, said: "That will do; cross examine;" and that is why the Sheriff did not tell it all.

A tube is sewed in each end of a pillow and when the said pillow is shaken up it at once produces a current of air right through the entire length and serves as a complete ventilation. Try them once, they are only 20 cents a pair.

STRONG ARGUMENT.

"UX" PRESENTS SOME DEEP THOUGHTS AND ASKS THE QUESTION

Shall the People Remonstrate?

Supreme Judicial Reasoning—Logical Common Sense—And a Subject Worthy of Consideration by Every Citizen.

At a meeting recently held in Bellefonte, a report was presented on the duty of citizens to remonstrate against granting licenses to sell intoxicating drinks at the next license court which will be March 4th, proximo.

The report was substantially as follows All good and lawabiding citizens are interested in the public welfare and have the same obligations to promote sobriety and to aid in the enforcement of law.

The license law of 1887 leaves the responsibility for licenses just where it was placed by the law of 1867. The clauses in the law that fix and chiefly define this responsibility are in sections 3 and 7, to wit:

"Such licenses may be granted only by the court of quarter sessions of the proper county, etc.," and the said court of quarter sessions shall hear petitions from residents of the ward, borough or township, in addition to that of the applicant in favor of and remonstrances against the application for such license; and in all cases shall refuse the same whenever, in the opinion of said court, having due regard to the number and character of the petitioners for and against such application, such license is not necessary, for the accommodation of the public and the entertainment of strangers or travelers; or that the applicant or applicants is or are not fit persons to whom such license should be granted."

This language common to both laws of 1867, and 1887, is interpreted by the Supreme Court in the case of Reed vs. Clark as follows:

"In this we see, that the petitions and remonstrances are for the sole purpose of determining, without regard to the character of the applicant, whether such license is, or is not, a matter of public necessity. Furthermore, the legislature has prescribed the method by which this necessity shall be ascertained, that is, by the number and character of those petitioning for or against such application" * * * * "The act does not require that either the petitioners or remonstrants should be voters; it is enough that they be citizens, whether male or female, hence it is a mistake to pass over women and count only voters." * * * *

"The petitions, pro and con, are not matters of record but in the nature of evidence for the information of the conscience of the Court."

This fixes the responsibility for such licenses upon the public, jointly with the court, and prohibits the court from thrusting a license to sell liquors upon a community that does not want it, and that expresses public opinion to that effect by remonstrance, in which women have equal suffrage with men.

Not to remonstrate is to evince indifference to the well known evils of the infamous traffic.

To properly and thoroughly remonstrate in every township or borough from which applications are made is to educate the people in due respect for law and in the lawful means of overcoming the evils of the drink curse.

If not sucessful in all cases, it will place the responsibility for the liquor traffic with its direful consequences and enormous burdens of taxation upon the Court.

The report recommends the publication of the names of all signers of petitions for license to sell intoxicating liquors and a thorough remonstrance be made throughout the county upon the basis of the Supreme Court decisions.

These recommendations were made by the committee upon the assumption that the Court will exercise its legal discretion in favor of temperance if a fair construction of the law and the required evidence be placed before it.

Judge Meliard, of Mercer county, formerly held that the Court had only a legal jurisdiction, and when an applicant complied with the law the license must be granted." When the Supreme Court handed down the decision in the case of Reed vs. Clark, he said: "I very gladly adopt the opinion of the Supreme Court, and shall, from this time forward, follow it as closely, as fully and fairly as I know how, and this opinion of the Supreme Court, to my mind, relieves the Court of Quarter Sessions of the responsibility and imposes the responsibility upon the people of the various communities."

In an elaborate opinion defining his new departure Judge Meliard held "that the petitions and remonstrances are for the purpose of determinting, without regard to the character of the applicant, whether such license is or is not a public necessity."

Judge Johnston, of Cambria county, in an opinion delivered after the decision upon Reed's Appeal, said. "If no one speaks against an application the Court presumes the necessity for the house."

"On the other hand, under the act of 1867, it is clear that the weight of numbers and characters render courts only return judges of public sentiment, and that where the sense of a borough, ward or township is expressed against any particular house applying for a license such license shall not be granted."

This recognizes the power of public sentiment to determine the question of necessity, but makes that the necessity for a tavern rather than for a license to sell intoxicating drinks, which is the principal thing applied for under the law of 1867 or of 1887, while the house is the incident.

It has been irrefutably proven time and again that the legislative intent of the law of 1867 was to relieve remonstrants of the necessity for protesting against a hotel, when they only wish to get rid of the drink nuisance and "the crime of crimes against humanity."

It seems however that the Court of Centre county holds that the point of necessity has reference to the hotel and only incidentally to the license to sell poisonous drinks; and that this must be determined by other evidence than the number and character of the petitioners and remonstrants.

The people respectfully decline to remonstrate against hotels, and it is useless to bring a list of names before the Court on remonstrances against "license for the sale of vinuous, spiritous malt or brewed liquors," as the law says, if they will only be spurned as not meeting the issue to be determined. The legislative intent is thus nollified and the people are robbed of their legal rights.

Hence public sentiment is utterly paralyzed as to remonstrating against the drink curse and the people are disposed to leave the responsibility for the entire iniquitous business upon the Court, until it follows the precedents of other Courts of Quarter Sessions in accepting the dicta of the Supreme Court upon these points. Temperance people do not care to make themselves prosecutors of state criminals when this is the sworn duty of the Court officers.

Milesburg Matters.

Dear Friend—"DAILY NEWS"—
We have all had La Grippe;
And its miseries measure
From tip unto tip.
With its aches and its pains,
Its moans and its groans,
Its fevers and shivers,
And its jointless tones.
How we sneezed! till we wakened
The echoes, and then—
Just commenced the same
Sneezing right over again.

Mr. L T Eddy's family have been exceptional sufferers from the epidemic, Mr and Mrs. Eddy both having severe attacks, while their daughter, Mrs. Zimmerman, was so low that for several days her life was despaired of.

Mrs. W B Miles is recovering from an attack which confined her to bed for several days.

Mrs. E H Carr is suffering from a lung affection superinduced by grippe.

The family of Rev. Bouse were all prostrated at one time by the epidemic, but all are about again with the exception of Harry, who is suffering from a second attack.

Rev. Wright delivered an able address on Sunday evening on the much discussed question of the "Inspiration of Old Testament Scriptures." Mr. Wright has been so close a student of the scripture for so many years that he is able to bring from this treasury things both new and old, presenting them with the power that always accompanies thorough knowledge.

Millheim Locals.

Mr. H L Stein received a machine on Wednesday for bunching cigars. This machine will bunch from 3,000 to 3,500 cigars per day of ten hours. Mr. Stein keeps three men employed in his establishment at present. Last week he shipped ten thousand cigars.

There were two funerals in this place on Wednesday. One was the funeral of our townsman, W K Alexander, who lives on West Main street. The young lady was aged 13 years and 5 months.

Mr. Uriah Reifsnyder's daughter was also buried on Wednesday. Her death was caused by typhoid fever. She was aged about 13 years.

Reunion and Banquet.

The Fifth Pennsylvania Cavalry Regiment Association will hold its next reunion and banquet on Saturday, February 22nd, 1890, at Cavalry Post 35, G. A. A BLOODY MURDER.

SNOW SHOE, THIS COUNTY, AGAIN THE SCENE OF A MURDEROUS TRAGEDY IN WHICH ONE MAN GETS HIS ONE

Lung Cut Almost in Two.

John Force and John Veighdorfer Engage in a Fight and the Latter When Getting Worsted, Draws His Knife and Cuts Force to Death.

Murder! murder!! murder!!! When will it stop? Is Centre county blighted by God and to be forever cursed with a continuous succession of murders—fearful and cold blooded? Again does the cry come down from Snow Shoe that a murder has been committed in that neighborhood. John Veighdorfer and John Force quarreled, when the former drew his knife and almost disembowled the latter. The murderer was arrested at his home and brought to Bellefonte this morning and lodged in jail.

IT WAS AN OLD FEUD.

For some time there has been bad blood between the two principals in this terrible tragedy, John Veighdorfer and John Force, but no one ever dreamed that the result would be so awful. Veighdorfer lives in the German Settlement and Force lives with his parents at Pine Glen. Both are young men. On Thursday night, about 8 o'clock, the two men met in the vicinity of Holt's blacksmith shop, near Moshannon, and engaged in a quarrel over an old feud that existed between them. Hot words ensued and soon blows were exchanged. The fight became hot and Force was getting the better of Veighdorfer when the latter and plunged it into the back of Force cutting him fearfully. He then made another stroke with his knife which this time entered a little below the heart on the left side and the cut extended entirely across the abdomen, from the left to the right side.

Veighdorfer then left and went to his home in the German Settlement where he was arrested not many hours afterwards. Force, when found, was carried to a house and medical attendance summoned. At 8.30 o'clock this morning a telephone dispatch from Snow Shoe said that a summons was sent to that place from Moshannon at 2.30 this morning for a physician, and the word then was that Force had his and was dying. From that time up to 8.30 this morning nothing later could be obtained, but the general impression seemed to be that the man could not survive, if he was not already dead.

THEIR REPUTATIONS

in the past have not been bad. John Veighdorfer is the son of George Veighdorfer, who lives in the German Settlement. John Force is the son of Mike Force, who lives in Pine Glen. Both families are respectable. Both the men are young and unmarried, and were never known to be rough, boisterous or abusive. Neither of them had been drinking at the time. The fight was the result of an old feud, bad blood having existed between the boys for some time.

A RIVAL FOR KENTUCKY.

If this state of affairs continues Centre county will soon be a dangerous rival for the State of Kentucky. The Hatfield and McCoy tragedies are not much worse than has been Centre county during the past year. This is now number six on the list of murders occurring within one year. Two men now stand convicted one soon to suffer the penalty of the gallows, and the other will be sentenced Saturday. If this state of affairs continues much longer it will certainly be justifiable in adopting some summary punishment. It will be the only way to do.

WHAT THE WARRANT SAYS.

"John Veighdofer stabbed John Force so much that he is likely to die from said cuts." The register at the jail says "John Veighdorfer, aged 22, single, arrested on the information of Dr. R. J. Young, on warrant sworn out before J. S. Smith, Justice of the Peace, charged with stabbing John Force."

Constable R. J. Haynes, Jr., of Snow Shoe township, made the arrest, finding Veighdorfer in bed, at 4 o'clock this morning. He was taken to Snow Shoe and held there until the morning train for this place when he was brought here and lodged in jail. Veighdorfer does not know the extent of the injuries inflicted on Force.

In Other Counties.

Two venerable residents of Lewistown, in the persons of Mother Pierce aged 73, and Grandmother Baum, aged 75, have died recently.

Johnstown democrats have nominated the following ticket: For mayor, W Horace Rose, Esq., city controller, Frank P Martin; city treasurer, Geo. C Miller; city assessor, Gottleib Bantley, John O'Toole, Joseph Kuntz.

The shingle mill of Alva Green, on the head waters of Chatham's run, was burned on Sunday night. All the stock of shingles on hand was consumed by the flames. The loss was not learned. The mill was situated about twelve miles north of Lock Haven.

An explosion of natural gas occurred in the regulator building of the Hotchkiss nut and bolt works at Greensburg Monday night. The night watchman, Peter Speeler, went into the building with a lighted lantern, and the explosion followed. The room had been filled with natural gas, which had escaped from one of the pipes. The watchman was terribly burned about the head, body, and arms, and the building was entirely destroyed. Mr. Speeler's recovery is extremely doubtful. His home is in Allegheny city.

—Commencing with Monday, February 10th, the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium was run under systematic regulations. Members will be required to show their tickets at the door, and members only will be admitted. Hours are from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 9.45 o'clock p m. Tuesday and Friday afternoons, from 2 to 5 o'clock, will be reserved for the ladies only.

—The better element of the Democratic party are becoming disgusted with Mr. Keichline's method of "setting them up" as is his custom just prior to the borough election, as well as for the great delight he now takes in playing pool. He has also become a very good customer at places where never visited before. His object is entirely too transparent and is calling forth unfavorable comment from prominent democrats.

—The United Brethren congregation in Colevilla are having success with their revival, twenty-seven persons having already been converted, and many others, both old and young, are inquiring for the way of life. Let the good work go on. Services will be held each evening of next week. Sunday school meets every Sunday morning at 9.30 o'clock. Services every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock and every alternate Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock.

—The Board of Directors of the Y M C A at their meeting on Friday night engaged Mr. Drummel as the future Secretary of the Association. Mr. Drummel will begin his duties on Monday. We have known the above named gentleman for several years and he will undoubtedly make a good secretary. He is a thorough christian gentleman and has the work of the Association at heart and, we doubt not, that under his Secretaryship the Association will be very prosperous.

No They're Not, Either.

"The Fleming faction is urging Col. Tate for tax collector in opposition to Ray.—Centre Democrat."

No they are not doing anything of the kind. But the Keichline faction is trying to make believe they are in order to stir up a squabble, but it won't work. Col. Tate is not trying for the office, don't want it, in fact, and the Fleming faction is too solidly Republican to urge anything or any man, if by so doing it would benefit the Democrats one vote.

Young Ladies.

One of our exchanges talks thus to the young ladies: If a young man truly loves you he will always be somewhat embarrased when with you. If a young man is not interested in you at first sight, the chances are five to one against you. If a fellow continues to glance at you he is interested in you; if he hastily averts his gaze when you catch his eye, the chanches are that he's a gentleman; but if instead he smiles at you, you may know that he is only a 'masher.'"

HE MARCHED WITH SHERMAN TO THE SEA;

Trudged all the way on foot, over mountain and through morass, carrying knapsack and gun, slept on brush heaps to keep out of the mud, caught cold, from the effects of which his friends thought he would never recover. Lingering with slow consumption for many years, he saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised in a country newspaper, and he determined to try it. A few bottles worked a change; six months' continued use cured him. Always too independent to ask his country for a pension, he now says he needs none. He helped save his country, he saved himself! Consumption is Lung-scrofula. For scrofula, in all its myriad forms, the "Discovery" is an unequaled remedy. VINEGAR BITTERS

GRANDEST - MODERN - DISCOVERY
Triumph of Pharmacy
The only true practical
ELIXIR OF LIFE AND HEALTH.

is one that promotes digestion, improves the appetite, cleanses the liver, purifies the blood, and stimulates brain and nerves without injurious reaction, and one that may be taken alike by adult or infant. Profane compounds, made of vile rum or bad whiskey, sweetened and flavored, under the titles of bitters, tonics, &c, produce effects far worse than the disease for which they are taken.

Vinegar Bitters is a pure tonic, a nervine without being narcotic, a purifier without poison, a liver tonic without purging, and above all, a life-giving stimulant without alcohol. The only medicine with such powers in the world.

A GENUINE TEMPERANCE BEVERAGE, far surpassing alcohol in any shape as a tonic it might be called

LIQUID LIFE;

since it stimulates, invigorates and regulates digestion, nutrition, secretion, excretion, respiration, and all the functions whereby life is maintained—we literally take in vitality in spoonsful.

It istoo much to assert that the equal of Vinegar Bitters does not exist, and no counterpart or compound with similar virtues has ever been known.

CALIFORNIA,

if remarkable for nothing else, would be immortalized by the production of the medicinal fruits, roots and herbs of which this Bitters is composed. Many of them used by the Indians and the medical profession in the treatment of chills and fevers, rheumatism, catarrh, consumption, neuralgia, headaches, liver complaint, kidney disease, jaundice, gout, piles, boils, skin diseases, &c., &c., too numerous to mention, but easily understood when the action of the Bitters on the vital functions is remembered. The discovery was partly accidental but the present

PERFECT BITTERS IS THE RESULT OF SCIENCE.

Millions of sufferers have gratefully and gladly endorsed, during the past quarter of a century the wonderful success of this

PHENOMENAL TONIC OF THE WORLD.

In order to meet every probable demand, two formulas of the same ingredients are now put up.

THE OLD STYLE IS STRONGER, SLIGHTLY BITTER, AND MORE CATHARTIC.

THE NEW STYLE, PLEASANT TO THE TASTE, AND EXPRESSLY ADAPTED TO DELICATE WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

REMEMBER,

There is no disease of low vitality, debility of functions, or nervous prostration for which.

in malarial diseases, cholera, consumption, internal diseases, &c., and so great is its power as a germicide that it is an

UNEQUALLED VERMIFUGE.

A book could be written of its virtues, and another of testimonials, but it is only necessary to remember its general action upon the liver, blood, brain and nerves, to realize its use in a majority of the ills that flesh is heir to, and that no family should ever be without a bottle of

HE WILL BE HANGED

W, Seely Hopkins will be hanged on Thursday, February 20th. During next week the DAILY NEWS will give full accounts of the hanging and everything pertaining thereto. Send ten cents and it will be sent to you all next week. Address DAILY NEWS, Bellefonte, Pa.

—Friday coming is St. Valentine's day.

—There is now a very great demand for houses of a cheaper rent than the average Bellefonte house.

—Mrs. George B. Weaver died at her home on Spring street this morning. Notice of funeral to-morrow.

—Valentine Reese, of Milesburg, and Jacob Williams, of Bellefonte, have been granted an increase of pension.

—John Furst, son of Judge A. O. Furst, who is at present employed in Williamsport, spent Sunday at his home here.

—Mr. R A Kinsloe has severed his connection with the Houtzdale Advance Mr. John F Farrell will now "go it alone."

—Mr. John Kenyon has resigned his position as Superintendent of the Clearfield electric light plant and has gone to Tamaqua.

—They are now having an excellent quality of ice in the vicinity of the North pole. Rates of shipment cheaper than ever.

—The district conference of the Methodist Episcopal church meets at Clearfield to-day to continue in session all day and to-morrow.

—The casket in which the body of Hopkins will be enclosed to send to his home in New York is now in Bellefonte in the possession of an undertaker.

—Sunday was the first real winter like day we have yet had, the only thing lacking to make it complete being a little more snow and good sleighing.

—"The Heavenliness of Heaven and The Hellishness of Hell" was the subject of a sermon preached in Pittsburg last Sunday. That preacher certainly goes to extremes.

—Have you got your Valentine ready? Friday is the day. All senders must bear in mind that if they put any writing inside there must be a two-cent stamp on the outside.

—Every Republican should make it his business to be at home on next Tuesday and go to the polls and vote. Also to see that every other republican is at home and will do likewise.

—The directors of the Juniata Valley Campmeeting Association have decided to sink an artesian well on the grounds; also that the campmeeting shall open August 10th and continue ten days.

—On Saturday night there was another disgraceful scene around on Bishop street and one man was badly hammered by "Reddy" Collins. It is about time that a stop was put to such things.

—Five young gentlemen of Lock Haven—Samuel Culvey, George Curns, Will Keller, Jake Keller and Bert Painter—drove to this place on Saturday evening last and returned to their homes on Sunday.

—"Nellie Bly" is going to give a series of lectures. Why not try to induce the young globe trotter to deliver one in Bellefonte? She has many admirers here and would doubtless draw a large audience.

—On Sunday there was a slight fire out at Mann's Axe Works but, fortunately, the blaze was discovered in time to prevent a serious conflagration. It is thought that a spark from the furnaces was the cause.

—Mrs Mary A., wife of Mr. William Lucas, of this place, died of consumption on Monday evening at 5 o'clock. She leaves a family of three children and a distracted husband and father to mourn her death.

—Sheriff Robert Cooke departed on the 10.25 train west Wednesday having in custody William H. Young, the man who stole the Hungarian's money and who the Sheriff was taking to the penitentiary at Pittsburg.

—The reception tendered General and Mrs. Hastings at Johnstown on last Saturday evening was one of the most cordial and enthusiastic gatherings ever held in that city. Nearly ten thousand people attended the reception, which lasted from 7 to 9.30 o'clock.

—A note found on our desk reads: "The Senator from South Dakota called in company with the Senator from the Grasshopper district." If it is a relic the owner can recover same by calling at this office. If it was intended for a personal we have filled the mission.

—Prof. Louis E. Reber will give one of his descriptive lectures on the Paris Exposition in the Presbyterian chapel, this evening, February 13th, 1890. The talk will be illustrated with magic lantern views of what Mr. Reber saw while in Paris. It will be worth while going to see and hear.

Andrews Sentenced.

AT 1,30 O'CLOCK ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON ALFRED ANDREWS, THE MURDERER OF CLARA PRICE, WAS CALLED BEFORE THE COURT AND SENTENCED

TO DIE ON THE GALLOWS!

Judge Furst Makes a Touching Preliminary Talk, During Which the Prisoner Sat Totally Unmoved and Smiled after Being Sentenced to Death.

Alfred Andrews was sentenced at 1.30 o'clock on Saturday, Febuary 8, 1890, to be hanged by the neck until he was dead for the murder of Clara Price, near Karthaus, on Wednesday, November 27th, 1889, Judge Furst talks very pathetically but the prisoner hears it all with apparent unconcern.

The full text of the Courts' talk to the prisoner is as follows:

Alfred Andrews stand up.

Have you anything further to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced upon you according to law?

No sir!

It is seldom, and hitherto unknown in this court, that one so young as you has committed a crime so revolting in its details.

Lying in wait for your victim and with the phrensy of lust in your heart, without a moment's warning, you made your assault and, to cover your shame you added to your attempt at rape, the foul crime of murder,

No wonder that this community stood aghast at your crime!

It is not surprising that the officers of the law were vigilant in seeking you out and bringing you here to answer for that crime.

It is sad indeed to think of the deed you have committed. Without pity or mercy you made a criminal assault upon Clara Price and failing in your brutal attempt, you took her life to suppress the evidence of your guilt. She was a beautiful young lady, just ripening into womanhood—pure and virtuous—and happy in the bright prospects of life before her.

Alone and unprotected in a lonely place you made your assault upon her. She sacrificed her young life to save her virtue.

Her noble effort to protect her honor and purity ought to be written in granite above her grave!

The law in mercy hitherto has extended to you every means to prove your defense: It has thrown around you the presumption of innocence. It has given you a jury of your own selection; it has required the Commonwealth to prove your guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. You have had the benefit of able counsel and the process of the law to compel the attendance of your witnesses.

The county has furnished means for your defense. You have had a patient, fair and impartial trial before a jury of your peers.

The jury has found you guilty of murder in the first degree.

No other verdict could justly have been rendered under the evidence. The truth of the verdict has been made manifest by your own confession since.

The language of the law has been changed. It now demands that satisfaction shall be done. You have forfeited your life to the law and justice requires that the forfeit shall be paid.

While you cannot restore the innocent life you have taken, the law requires that society shall be protected from the assassin and murderer and that your ignominious death upon the scaffold shall be a warning and a terror to the evil doer.

You need not expect or hope for a change in the verdict, by an appeal to any earthly tribunal. No constituted authority in the land can read the record of your trial without pronouncing your guilt. There is no appeal left for you, but to your God. To Him and Him alone may your appeal for mercy be made.

That mercy which you denied your helpless victim, may yet through sincere repentance and faith in Christ be accorded to you.

We earnestly commend you to a merciful God, who, in His infinite love granted pardon to the thief upon the cross, and who is able to save the penitent, however wicked he may have been.

We have no desire to review the facts in connection with your crime.

The confession you have made relieves the Court from further delay in your case.

It now only remains to pronounce the dread sentence according to law.

SENTENCE.

The sentence of the law is that you, Alfred Andrews, the prisoner at the bar, be taken hence to the jail of Centre county whence you came and from thence to the place of execution, designated by law, and that you there be hanged by the neck until you are dead. And may God have mercy upon your soul.

HOW ANDREWS STOOD IT.

When ordered to stand up before the court Andrews exhibited no signs of nervousness or trepidation, When asked by Court if he had anything to say why the sentence of death should not be pronounced on him, he answered with a clear, if not defiant, voice "No, sir." During all of the Court's talk to him he stood totally unmoved, exhibiting less show of nervousness than he did at any time during the six days of his trial; he once lifted his hand and scratched his face but that was the only move he made.

When sentence was passed he sat down with a smile on his face. It is said he requested to be allowed to stay in court to see the rioting puddlers sentenced which request was granted. He was then conducted back to his cell which he will leave no more until he leaves to tread the path to the gallows.

What Constitutes Murder in the First Degree.

"All unlawful killing of a human being, with malice aforethought, either intent or implied," constitutes murder and that in the first degree.

"All unlawful killing of a human being, by accident, or without malice aforethought, constitutes murder in the second degree."

There is no law or statute that modifies the degree of crime by the person dying within "One year and a day." In other words the "Common law," which is the recognized authority, stipulates that all killing is murder, providing that the person attacked or assaulted dies within one year and a day from the time the attack or assault on his life was made. If he should live longer and then die, even from the result of the wounds inflicted, the common law then modifies the crime from attempted murder to simply a "felonious assault." Thus it will be seen that by the common law the time alloted in which a person must die to constitute the charge of murder against his assailant is "one year and a day."

Up till the year 1860 this is the only law on murder in vogue. The law then recognized no degrees. In 1860 a statute was passed regulating degrees of murder and it was at that time and ever since that a murder is regulated, according to the circumstances surrounding the case, into degrees—either of first or second degree or of manslaughter, which is the third degree. The statute of 1860 does not in any way interfere with the common law on the question as to how long a man must live in order to modify the degree of crime but that still remains the same—one year and a day—and after that it is only a felonious assault.

Two Millheim Items.

Mr. Daniel Hoy, proprietor of the Millheim creamery, has lately purchased a new engine from Mr. Isaac Underwood, agent for the Geiser Manufacturing company. It is a "daisy." He is now prepared to supply the trade with a No. 1 article in butter. The full turnout capacity of his creamery is from 500 to 1000 pounds per day.

Mr. R. B. Hartman has built himself a very nice and serviceable wagon shed in the place of the old one that was washed away by the last June flood—a much needed building.

The Puddlers Sentenced.

On Saturday Judge Furst sentenced Hugh McGraib, James Conroy, John Jamison and Michael Fennecy, the rioting puddlers, each to pay one dollar fine, costs of prosecution and to a term of three months in the county jail. Thompson, the man who was shot, was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of prosecution and go to jail for six months. This will be in accord with the feelings of all law-abiding citizens. The law must be obeyed and the officers of the law shall be supported in their efforts to keep the peace.

Funeral of Mrs. Miller.

A large concourse of people assembled in the Christian church at Eagleville, on Friday, Feb. 7, to pay the last tribute of respect to Mrs. Jane Miller, an aged and much respected lady of Beech Creek, whose age was 76 years, 4 months and 27 days. The services were conducted by Elder Jackson, who preached a very eloquent and touching sermon. The remains were interred in the cemetery near by. Pall bearers were John Harleman, Henry Berry, William Gardner, Marshal Packer, William Waite and Mr. Loomis.

—There is one most dangerous passage way for pedestrians in this town, and that is the boardwalk leading out North Allegheny street, across the big hollow between Curtin and Beaver streets. It is high up, it is lop-sided, it is full of holes and it is a wonder that some person has not had his neck broken there long ago. The walk should be straightened up and all the holes covered; then in addition there should be a railing along each side of the walk especially where it is so high from the ground

Death of Anna Sweeny.

Died at the residence of her son, E, W. Sweeny, in Altoona, on Saturday, February 8. Mrs. Anna S. Sweeny, aged 76 years. Funeral services will be conevening at 7.30 o'clock. Interment at Centre Hall, this county, to-morrow afternoon.

HOPKINS, VIEW OF THE CASE.

He Writes a Long Letter to a Philipsburg Friend and Says He is Prepared.

The following letter we clip from the Philipsburg Journal. It was received by Mr. William Charles, of the Lloyd House, Philipsburg:

BELLEFONTE, PA., Feb. 5, 1890.

FRIEND BILLIE:—Your letter received to-night and finds me in the best of health. Billie, it would be a joyful meeting for us both if we could get together as we have done before, but it can't be, and so let it be. I am altogether a different man; I have found peace and hope for my soul; I have looked for pardon from a higher place than this earth and I found it, and I am reconciled to my fate, and will meet it like a man for I have nothing more to live for. All my hopes were blighted over a year ago, and it is needless to mention names. Billie I do hope you can get the chance to come and see me before the 20th, for I would like to see you and have a talk over old times. Of course I done an awful crime, but I was drove to it; but, nevertheless, I wasn't justified in killing either of them; that is where I made the sad mistake; you know all the rest and for that reason I don't care to live; I prefer to die and then I will be out of my troubles. My casket came to-day and I will soon see it and get in it and be put to rest. The county don't bury me, my brother pays all. I will be taken home to be buried alongside of my father, brothers and sisters. Billie I hope from the bottom of my heart that you and yours will prosper and that you may live happy and content; don't fall into the snare I did. Andrews takes it very easy and he is the right man; he confessed to me last night; he and I have the same cell. He has told me all; it is frightful. I can't see how he done it, but he did. You will read his and my statement after I am gone. We are both unfortunate men, but we will die game. My eyesight is failing me day by day. It is the close confinement that is the cause of it. I have to guess half what I write as I can't see the lines. Give my regards to the boys and tell them you got a letter from me, and tell them how I feel; tell them I am prepared to die. I will close with my love to you and your family. From your unfortunate friend. Write soon.

Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium Rules.

On Saturday the rules of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium were printed in this paper. We to-day print them fuller with the following explanations.

The price of a membership ticket to the gymnasium is $3. This does not include a ticket to the Association and the library privilege—it is one dollar extra—the two being but $4. Any person who has been or is a subscriber to the Association to the amount of $12 (this is merely illustrative of the fact) will be entitled to four tickets to the gymnasium, or three tickets to the gymnasium and three tickets to the Association. In other words if a man, who has a family, is a subscriber to the above amount he can secure tickets for three boys to the gymansium. Or if he has daughters—as ladies tickets are but $2—he can secure a proportionate number according to the price and the amount of his subscription.

The gymnasium will hereafter be open only to holders of tickets. Hours from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 9.45 p m., every day except Tuesdays and Fridays—these two days being reserved especially for the ladies. Hours from 2 to 5 p m. The committee that has charge of the gymnasium on the days ladies are admitted is composed of Mrs. D. H. Hastings, Miss Lizzie Shortlidge and Miss Emma Hughes.

—We are sorry to hear of the death of Mr. S. M. Woodcock, of Altoona, Pa., which occurred at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Woodcock was a brother of our townsman, Rev. J. A. Woodcock, who, with his family, departed for Altoona same morning. The cause of Mr. S. M. Woodcock's death was puenmonia superinduced by an attack of the grippe. He had been ill for several weeks and at one time was so far recovered that his friends felt cheerful over the prospects of his regaining perfect health, but he took a relapse and the end came suddenly.

—Samuel Gault will build the gallows that the commissioners have concluded to have constructed. They will be built of solid white oak, planed and painted white. The commissioners think that what is worth doing is worth doing right and it is certainly worth while to build a gallows for this county's special use. It will also be less expense than to be borrowing from a neighboring county every few months.

—Mrs. Susan A Gray dropped dead last Friday at the old homestead in Half Moon valley, in her 80th year. Her husband, Jacob Gray, died about 2 years ago. She was well known as a good, christian woman whose kindness had endeared her to many who will mourn her demise. The funeral took place on Monday at 11 o'clock.

—At Saturday's court a very interesting equity case was argued by Roland D. Swoope, Esq., of Clearfield, assisted by his brother, W. I. Swoope, Esq., of this place, for the plaintiffs, and Orvis, Bower and Orvis for the defendants. The case grew out of a dispute about the working of the Black Diamond nine, at Powelton which is distinguished as the only nine in America that is operated by electricity.

Personal Penciilings.

James L. Hamill, Esq., is sojourning Virginia, at present.

His Honor, Judge Furst, went to Huntingdon to hold court there.

Aaron Williams, a legal light of this place, was in Altoona part of this week.

Mr. D. P. Shope, of Milesburg, was a pleasant caller at this office on Monday.

Howard Yerger returned on Friday evening after a short stay at State College.

Prof. D. M. Wolf, of Spring Mills, was in Bellefonte between trains on Wednesday.

Mr. Hugh Adams one of Philipsburg's solid citizens was in Bellefonte on business last week.

Mrs. Reubin Valentine, and her two daughters, are sojourning in Philadelphia this week.

Miss Helen, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Hastings, is now the guest of Miss Lulu Brew, at Tyrone.

Miss Jennie Laughlin is at home again after a pleasant visit of about a month with friends in Lewistown.

Miss Maggie Haupt, of this place, departed on Tuesday for a visit to friends in New York and Philadelphia.

Lient. Phil Foster, of State College, came to Bellefonte on Friday evening to take part in the drill of Co. B., N. G. P.

Mr. Clement Dale, was out at Pleasant Gap on Monday surveying off a lot for the new grange hall to be put up there.

John B. Furey, brother of Mr. J. M. Furey, of Lock Haven, returned home Tuesday morning from a several day's visit to the latter.

Governor James A. Beaver was in Bellefonte on Saturday on business of a strictly private character. He departed on the 4.20 p. m. train same day.

Miss Stella Armor, a pleasant and very agreeable young lady from Bellefonte, is visiting her many friends in this place.—Tyrone Cor. in Altoona Tribune.

Mrs. Susan Wetzel, of Bellefonte, is in Millheim visiting at her brothers, Mr. S. D. Musser's pleasant home, on Main street. She will prolong her stay one week or more.

Mrs. C. B. Bower, of this place, and Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Meyer, of Centre Hall, were the pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McCargar at their home in Tyrone, last week.

Mr. Clement Dale departed on Tuesday evening for Clearfield, where he went on strictly legal business. No politics in his eye unless some newspaper man interviews him.

Mr. Robert C. Wilson, one of Altoona's nicest young men, accompanied by his interesting sister, passed through Bellefonte on Wednesday's 5.20 p. m. train, en route for their home in the Mountain City.

Mr. J H Crissman, of Messina, Clearfield county, returned on Friday, by way of Snow Shoe and the Beech Creek railroad to his home. He had been in Bellefonte attending the funeral of Mr. George W Givin.

Mr. John S. Foster, of State College, was a pleasant caller at this office on Tuesday. Mr. Foster does not venture to Bellefonte very often during the winter time but he is warmly greeted when he does come.

Mr. Wm. Cann, the gentleman who so ably represented the Philipsburg Journal at the murder trial here, and to whom Andrews made a partial confession yesterday morning, left for Philipsburg on the 10.25 a m train yesterday.

Mr. R. M. Magee, the genial and whole-souled insurance agent, formerly of this place but now of Philadelphia, departed for his home this morning after spending a week in Bellefonte. He did not forget to drop in and shake hands before he left, either.

Mr. Frank Campbell, formerly General Agent of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of Harrisburg, has accepted the position of General Manager for L C Vanuxum & Co., General Agents of the N. Y. Life Insurance Co., with special supervision of their interests in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. L A Stoffiel, of the Pittsburg Dispatch was in Bellefonte on Friday evening. Mr. S came to this place with the intention of journeying to the lumber districts to see how much loss to lumbermen the absence of snow would be, but when he got this far it snowed and now he will hardly go to the woods.

—John Neighdy died at his home near State College on Tuesday morning. He was aged about 66 years. His death was caused by a complication of diseases from which he has been a great and constant sufferer for several years. He leaves a wife and three children (all married)—two sons and one daughter—to mourn their loss, The daughter is the wife of Mr. Benjamin Beaver, at the College, and the sons are William and John. The funeral will occur this Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Lutheran graveyard about one mile beyond the college.

Where is Statchick?

A RUMOR THAT THE KILLING OF MIKE BOARDNER BY STACHICK WAS NOT ACCIDENTAL BUT

Deliberate and Cold Blooded.

Other Murder News—The Weaver Tragedy. The Snow Shoe Affair and Another at Poe Mills.

Did Stachick, when out shooting mark deliberately raise his gun, and, notwithstanding the entreaties of Boardner, shot him dead in his tracks and then skip the county? If he did, what was the reason and should he not be hunted down?

A rumor if now in circulation that the killing of Mike Boardner, the Hungarian, by one of his own countrymen named Stachick, was not the accidental affair that it was at the time reported to be; and furthermore that it was a cold blooded, deliberate murder. The circumstances, as then related, surrounding the case were somewhat mysterious. It will be remembered that only the two men were together at the time. Boardner was killed and Stachick gave the alarm, telling how it occurred. Boardner was staying with an uncle of the man Stachick, and said uncle explained that there never was bad blood between them, so that it certainly must have been accidental. Now let us look on the side of the rumor.

Bordner had been working steadily in the mines. He was drawing his pay and had only himself to keep. He boarded with the uncle of the man who shot him. Stachick had just a few days before the shooting returned from Montana dead broke. He also goes to his uncle's. He and Boardner are old friends; in a few days Stachick proposes that Boardner takes a day off and that they enjoy themselves. They drink awhile and then Stachick proposes they take a gun and go and shoot mark. They go: Boardner is shot and killed and Stachick goes for a doctor but never returns. When Boardner is to be buried it is found he has no money. Stachick, before he left, said he would either go to Montana or back to the old country; that he had a hundred dollars and that would take him to either place. Now reader, draw your own conclusions.

It is also rumored that when Stachick shot, Boardner was imploring him not to. Why do not the authorities look into this affair? Stachick, the day after the shooting, crossed the river at Keating. He is marked so would not be hard to trace.

THE WEAVER AFFAIR.

District Attorney Meyer, since the close of the Andrews trial, has been investigating the Weaver tragedy, and he on Monday told a DAILY NEWS representative that he thought he had a plain case against Mrs. Weaver. A writ of habeas corpus has been granted on application of their attorney, W. I. Swoepe, Esq., and a hearing will be given the prisoners in the near future, at which time it will be determined whether there is sufficient evidence on which to try them, or any one of them, for murdering old man Weaver.

THAT MOSHANNON AFFAIR.

A special telephone dispatch from Snow Shoe this morning to the DAILY NEWS says that John Forcey, the man stabbed by John Veighdorfer, is apparently getting along very well. The doctors now think he can recover if they can keep the inflammation out of his side and lung. If that should happen to set in it might be dangerous even a month from now.

AT POE MILLS.

At Poe Mills on last Thursday a man by the name of Klinefelter accused a man named Freid of too great intimacy with the former's wife. The quarrel became hot when Klinefelter drew a revolver and attempted to shoot Freid. He shot twice but the revolver missed fire both times, and it was then taken from the man. Klinefelter is shipping boss for the Shamokin Lumber Company at Poe Mills.

At Rest

DIED—Lulu May, infant daughter of Leander and Mattie Fredericks, at 3 o'clock p. m. on Friday, February 7th, 1890, aged 5 months. Death released the little sufferer and he who said "Suffer little children to come unto me for of such are the kingdom of Heaven," has taken her to that bright realm where sickness and trouble never enters. The funeral occurred on Sunday afternoon, interment being made in the Union cemetery. We extend to the grief-stricken parents our heartfelt sympathy for their loss.

—The revolver with which Andrews killed Clara Price was a British Bulldog, 32 calibre, centre fire. It was purchased of a prominent dealer in firearms in a neighboring town not long before the shooting was done, and it seems almost incredible that the commonwealth could not trace it. The revolver was afterwards hidden at their home in Brisbin and the supposed Mrs. Andrews knew all the time where it was.
